

DENY REPORT OF AMUNDSEN'S RETURN

FROST KILLS FRUIT CROPS AND FLOWERS

Sharp Drop in Mercury Dispensers With Straw Hats in Favor of Overcoat

32 DEGREES LOW POINT

Freezing Area Extends as Far
South as Missouri—North
Suffers Least

Straw hats and earmuffs displayed by side in the show window of a west end shop are typical of the weather here during the past few days, and the rapid changes in temperature since Friday are furnishing much food for conversation. After a day of midsummer heat the thermometer registered 55 above zero Saturday morning and continued to drop steadily until it reached 36 above zero Saturday evening. It continued cold Sunday morning but began to warm up shortly after noon when the mercury registered from 45 to 50 degrees above.

The mercury registered another fall
Sunday evening, however, and the cold did considerable damage to crops and flowers, according to reports. The lowest temperature Sunday night was 32 degrees above, and Monday morning the temperature showed but a slight rise.

More than half of the dahlias raised by Mark Catlin who makes a specialty of producing new varieties were nipped badly Sunday night. Mr. Catlin succeeded in saving all of the seedlings raised from seeds he secured from prize flowers in Los Angeles this year.

He planted 75 seeds and 40 of them sprouted, an unusually good record. All these escaped the frost due to the fact that Mr. Catlin covered them with blankets, but many of his other valuable flowers have been killed.

DAMAGE IN STATE
Light to killing frosts were reported from every section of the state Monday with the most severe frosts in the northwestern sections of the state. Superior reported a temperature of 39 degrees above during the last 24 hours which is the lowest recorded for this season.

The killing frosts according to the reports from the weather bureau extended south to the central part of the state, although this report was not entirely authentic due to the fact that all reports had not been received before noon Monday. The light frosts extended as far south as Missouri, reports show with a probability that frost would visit the southern section of Wisconsin again Monday night, while the western and northern end of the state would be warmer.

How extensive the damage caused by the frigid temperature of Sunday night will be could not be estimated Monday, although it is believed that the best crop will have suffered severely. The killing frosts in the northern section of the state will not cause a great amount of damage due to the slow progress vegetation has made this season. However, the central part of the state, from east to west is expected to report considerable damage to the development there of all vegetation.
Berries and fruits will be the hardest hit. It was said, with some truck farms suffering extensive damage.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS INCOME TAX PUBLICITY

Washington, D. C.—Newspapers which published lists of income tax payers and the amounts they paid last fall were upheld in doing so Monday by the supreme court.

The court declared the newspapers were not guilty of a violation of the law in publishing income tax lists made available to public inspection in the offices of collectors of internal national revenue.

DRUNKEN DRIVER SENT TO JAIL TO SPEND TEN DAYS

Another drunken driver was chained up on the police records over the weekend and he is spending his time in the county jail. He is Edwin Herman, a farmer living near Appleton, who was arrested by Carl Radtke, motorcycle policeman.

Herman was charged when he appeared in municipal court Monday morning with driving a car while intoxicated. He was proceeding along W. Spencer-st at the time. Judge A.
M. Spencer adhered to his policy of locking up men who thus endanger traffic and ordered him placed in the county jail for ten days. He also was obliged to pay court costs of $4.20.

PICK JULY 4 AS DAY FOR MUSTER OF U. S. DEFENSE

Coolidge Tells War Department He Is Opposed to Selection of Armistice Day

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge Monday informed the war department that he was opposed to the proposal to hold a defense test on next Armistice day, but suggested July 4 as an appropriate day for such a demonstration.

A nationwide defense muster of American man power will be held under direction of the war department next July 4, as a result of President Coolidge's disapproval of the department's selection of Armistice day for the demonstration.

The president also advised that in case the war department decides to go forward with plans for a July 4 demonstration, it should make clear to the governors of the states that any state cooperation be "purely voluntary."

A conference of general staff officers to begin work on plans for the muster was called at once. Acting Secretary Davis' communications on the subject to the governors of the states will be framed in accordance with an expressed desire of the president that they should emphasize that any action taken by the states will be of a purely voluntary character.

LAW EXCLUDES CHINESE WIVES OF U. S. CITIZENS

Washington, D. C.—Chinese wives and the minor children of Chinese merchants residing here, are entitled to admission but the Chinese wives of American citizens are not entitled to admission into this country under the new immigration act, the supreme court ruled Monday.

THAMES GIVES UP BODY OF PEER'S DAUGHTER

Deficit In Money And Men Reported By Presbyterians

By Associated Press
Columbus, O.—The general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States in session here Monday accepted the report of bills and overtures committees which recommended that no action be taken on the memorial of the First Presbyterian church of New York asking vindication for its stand in permitting Dr. Harris Emerson Fosdick to occupy its pulpit.

The executive committee on Christian education and ministerial relief of the Presbyterian Church in the United States reported a deficit of $32,629.52. It was the first time since 1926 that the books were closed showing a deficit, said the report.

"The endowment fund on ministerial relief is now $1,488,472.23 and the general assembly asked that it be increased to at least two and a half million," declared the report. "The

"I'll Return To Fight Shepherd," Says Missing Witness Note

By Associated Press
Chicago, Ill.—A purported letter from Robert White, missing witness in the murder trial of William Darling Shepherd, was made public Monday by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Savage. The writer declared he was "just commencing to fight Shepherd and his gang" and would come back.

"Shepherd is guilty," said the writer, whose signature, except for the letter W, was virtually identical with the signature signed by White to a purported letter from White to a Chicago newspaper.

"Shepherd is guilty I must admit," it ran, "and he knows I know it and God help him when I get back! His hunch made a nervous wreck of me and also made me write a statement against my will. I am just commencing to fight Shepherd and his gang."

The letter denied he had stolen the rented car and said he left $45 for its temporary use. It requested the state's attorney to protect him from prosecution on a charge of its theft.

A postscript in a woman's hand and signed with Mrs. White's name denied that her husband had stolen the automobile and that he had talked about the Shepherd case, so far as she knew before leaving Chicago.

The writer of the letter denied statements that he had said $25,000 was offered to him to leave Chicago, but declared he was compelled to leave "to save my life and family."

The letter was postmarked 6:30 p.
m. May 23. It was mailed from Philadelphia.

White, who had been reported seen in Florida and elsewhere the last week, was considered one of the state's chief witnesses. He was expected to repeat on the witness stand his assertions that he had seen Shepherd studying germs in the science school of C. C. Fauman, also under indictment in the case.

The letter created interest here as defense and prosecution prepared to continue the drawn out task of selecting a jury.

With only four jurors selected after a week's effort, which was attended by two minor sensations, the disappearance of White and the statement of Philip Barry, a prospective juror, that James C. Callan had approached him in the interests of the defense. It was learned that precautions of an unusual nature would govern every act of the state's attorney.

DRY CRUSADERS MAY SHIFT WAR TO GULF COAST

Territory from Florida to Louisiana Settled With Fishermen Smugglers

By Associated Press
New Orleans—In the gorgeous fringe of the continent which dangles from the mainland into the vivid blue of the Gulf of Mexico for 200 miles on each side of the delta of the Mississippi, the next contest between the United States coast guard and the liquor smugglers is likely to be staged.

For 400 miles, from Pensacola, Fla., on the east to Morgan City, La., on the west, marsh lands, golden with flowers and bays and inlets brilliant under the tropical sun, great silvery shell reefs offer every facility for the smuggler and every obstacle for his pursuer.

Here are hundreds of islands readily accessible from the usually placid gulf.

Scattered among these islands are scores of fishing villages which serve as bases of supply for the smugglers.

A strange people live in these towns.
They are descendants from the French and the Spaniards who colonized this coast from the Portuguese who came to trade from the English who fled from the northern colonies, the Malays, Japanese and Chinese who came to fish; and a mixed group of middle Europeans who swarmed up the islands during the last century because they had no place else to go.

They speak a hybrid tongue in which French predominates, but in which the words are drawn from every language of the world. And these villagers, who have seldom heard of the United States and seldom have been further from home than the nearest village on the coast, are not prohibitionists. Nor are they 100 per cent for law and order. Their ancestors made their living by smuggling. It is difficult for them to understand who one should pay for the risks of landing goods.

GERMANY READY TO BAN WAR GAS

Official Tells Arms Conference Board Nation Would Welcome Agreement

By Associated Press
Geneva—Germany announced Monday that she was ready to participate in any international agreement for the complete suppression of the use of chemical and poison gas warfare.
Germany's announcement was made by Herr Von Eckhardt at a meeting of the military and naval committee considering the American proposal for control of traffic in arms, which is considering the American proposal for insertion in the proposed convention of a clause prohibiting the use of poison gas.

The committee in discussing the American proposal is meeting with difficulties in view of the fact that the subject of poison gas is not on the agenda of the conference. Jugo-Slavia and Italy have suggested that a special conference be convened for the purpose of solving the chemical warfare problem.

"All I ask is that there should be in America a sympathetic understanding toward those who are endeavoring to bring together the jarring and conflicting elements in Europe, and endeavoring to see if they cannot work together, for economic, if not for any higher reason, for the good
of all."

The ambassador pointed out that after peace was reestablished it was necessary to increase the purchasing power of the countries to which
Great Britain sold her goods.

"Now if Great Britain cannot sell
her products abroad," he added, "she cannot of course continue to buy raw material and manufactured goods in the United States as has been her custom. It is, I am sure, fully realized that Great Britain could scarcely carry on an unfavorable trade balance with the United States forever, and yet pay the 32 odd million pounds per annum required to meet her indebtedness to the United States government."

MUST CHANGE TARIFF LAW, ENVOY HINTS

Sir Howard, Answering Ambassador Houghton, Pleads for Cooperation

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1925, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—Great Britain has made pointed answer to the recent speech of Ambassador Houghton.
This is the general feeling here after reading the address of Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, before the American Iron and Steel institute in New York.

The British argument that trade is the only solution of Europe's trouble, taken together with the significant delineation of America's commercial responsibility to the rest of the world, is viewed here as a point but firm appeal that the tariff wall erected by the Fordney-McCumber law be reduced.

European economists have all along been saying that the operation of the Dawes plan as well as the payment by the allies of their war debts to America were dependent to no small extent on America's readiness to buy goods from Europe. It was not until Ambassador Howard made his public statement in New York, however, that the British government, speaking really for the rest of Europe, made an official point of the tariff situation.

It would have been indiscreet for the British ambassador specifically to criticize the tariff laws, but without treading on undiplomatic ground he showed the relationship between exports and imports in the British-American trade and said plainly enough for American officials to grasp his meaning that unless Britain sells more goods to America neither she nor the rest of Europe can pay her debts.

Although the warning sounded by American Ambassador Houghton was really directed toward the political instability in Europe, the British ambassador in reply went a step farther in arguing that the peace of Europe, while desirable enough, was not the only factor that would tend to restore normal conditions in Europe's relationship to the United States.
This is the most significant position of the address.

"All I ask is that there should be in America a sympathetic understanding toward those who are endeavoring to bring together the jarring and conflicting elements in Europe, and endeavoring to see if they cannot
work together, for economic, if not
for any higher reason, for the good
of all."

The ambassador pointed out that after peace was reestablished it was necessary to increase the purchasing power of the countries to which
Great Britain sold her goods.

"Now if Great Britain cannot sell
her products abroad," he added, "she cannot of course continue to buy raw material and manufactured goods in the United States as has been her custom. It is, I am sure, fully realized that Great Britain could scarcely carry on an unfavorable trade balance
with the United States forever, and yet pay the 32 odd million pounds per annum required to meet her indebtedness to the United States government."

"Now if Great Britain cannot sell
her products abroad," he added, "she

MOTORBOATS TO PROVIDE COLOR AT DEDICATION

Decorated Vessels Will Cruise Back and Forth Under Bridge During Ceremonies

Eight motor boats will take part in the festivities in connection with the dedication of Cherry-st bridge Tuesday afternoon and evening. The boats will be decorated from stem to stern, showing numerous lights and will cruise in the neighborhood of the bridge until the celebration has ended. Two cabin cruisers, the Argosy and the Tipoff, will lead the fleet, followed by the Starline, Beresford, Sheba, Penn, Indian, and the Capitola. They will line up at the dock of the Appleton boat club at 7 o'clock, and from there will cruise to Schneider's landing and back to the bridge. The railway bridge will be kept open as long as possible to allow them free passage during the ceremonies. Leo Schroeder is fleet captain.

Mayor John Goodland Jr., and the common council will assemble at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the city hall, and from there will go to Foster and Adams-sts to meet the Winnebago and other delegations. The 120th Artillery band will be stationed at Union-st with the delegation of the American Legion. The Civil and Spanish-American war veterans will take their stand on Park-ave and the mayor, together with the members of the state and county highway commissions and visiting county and city officials will be on Drew-st.

After the conclusion of the inspection of the bridge the city officials will be on Drew-st.

OSHKOSH HOST TO MEATCUTTERS

About 750 Men from Valley Cities Attend Anniversary Program in Sawdust City

More than 150 Appleton butchers and meatcutters attended the convention of Fox River Valley Meat Cutters at Oshkosh Sunday. In connection with the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Oshkosh local. The total number of butchers at the convention exceeded 750, according to reports, and they formed a long line when they paraded through the streets of Oshkosh.

The meat cutters were welcomed by Mayor Fritz of Oshkosh who opened the ceremonies in the municipal club house. Clarence Pfeiffer of Janesville, who organized the Oshkosh local on May 27, 1920, was master of the day and one of the chief speakers. Henry O. Collins, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, and Mr. Collins, vice president of the International Association of Meat Cutters and Butchers, also addressed the assembly. All the speakers told of the accomplishments of the association since its inception 25 years ago, its aims and future plans. The speeches were followed by a banquet, at which 400 persons were served at one time. The Oshkosh meat cutters then entertained their guests at a dance, both floors of the municipal clubhouse being filled with couples. The Fox River Valley delegation was accompanied by a band, and in the parade all the meatcutters wore white coats and caps, despite the cold and rainy weather.

NAVIGATION DANGEROUS WHEN WIND WHIPS LAKE

Wind was so strong during Saturday's storm that practically all boat traffic on Lake Winnebago was forced to discontinue or run at the risk of great damage, according to Judge Fred V. Heinemann, who spent part of the afternoon on the lake. Mr. Heinemann was aboard his house boat which was being towed by the lake. Large waves poured over the sides of the boat and the stout cable with which it was being towed broke five times in quick succession. Each time it was replaced and the boat proceeded on its way but within a half mile from the Sawdust city the heavy post to which the towrope was tied pulled out of the deck of the Heinemann boat carrying a large portion of the deck along. The boat finally was brought safely to port, after hard work by the crew.

TWO AUTOS DAMAGED IN CRASH AT CORNER

Two automobiles were badly damaged in a collision at 420 Saturday afternoon at the intersection of N. Durkee and E. Franklin-sts but the occupants were unhurt. One car was driven by E. C. Otto, 118 E. College-ave and proceeding south on N. Durkee and the other, going east on Franklin, by Harry DuPont of Kimberly. The latter was owned by Mr. W. J. Kimbels.

The drivers were unable to stop their cars to prevent a collision. A wheel was broken off the car driven by DuPont and the front was battered badly. The steering gear on the Otto car was disabled, a fender bent and other parts damaged.

TORKELSON IS DINNER SPEAKER

Highway Official Will Address Gathering in Honor of Bridge Dedication

M. W. Torkelson of Madison, secretary of the Wisconsin highway commission, will be the principal speaker at the banquet which will be given at Conway hotel at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening in honor of the dedication of Cherry-st bridge to the soldiers and sailors. The dinner is open to all citizens and they make reservations before Tuesday at 12:25 a. plate.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., will act as toastmaster. It is expected that there will be a number of impromptu talks by officials from Winnebago and Outagamie counties who will be guests of the city at the dinner, and by Appleton men who have been leaders in the bridge project.

The program is to be adjourned at 7 o'clock so as to give the guests time to reach the scene of the dedication of bridge at 7:30.

CLERKS ASSOCIATION MEETS AT COURTHOUSE

A meeting of the Outagamie County Clerks association will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the courthouse. The association consists of all village, town and city clerks of the county and was organized in 1902.

PORTUGAL GIRLS GLAD TO EARN OWN LIVING

Lisbon — The women of Portugal slowly are emerging from the almost Moorish seclusion in which they have lived for so long, and the first thing they do, under the new freedom, is to go to work. The shops and offices of Lisbon are besieged these days by girls eager to follow in the footsteps of their sisters in other countries, and earn their own living.

Much had to be overcome by these Lisbon girls. There was the resistance and ill will of the masculine element, grounded in the precedent of many centuries, and a large group of minor state officials, in fear of their own jobs, voiced violent opposition.

In the schools also Portuguese girls have won their victories. They have exploded old traditions, and today are taking their places on the benches along with their brothers.

NUMEROUS STATUES HIDE BEAUTY OF WESTMINSTER

London — The proposal to overhaul Westminster abbey so that more of its treasures and beauties may be revealed, has led C. W. R. Nevison, an English artist, to remark that the abbey is more like a departmental store than a church. The opinion that some of the most beautiful things in the abbey cannot be seen because of the overcrowded memorial statuary is shared by many lovers of the historic building, including Canon Westlake, the abbey historian.

SIX CAR DRIVERS FALL INTO HANDS OF TRAFFIC COPS

Radtke Takes Five Into Custody for Speeding and Artistic Jumping

Reckless drivers, arterial jumpers and speeders were numbered among those arrested over the weekend by the police in their determination to keep traffic orderly and safe. Several paid fines in municipal court Monday morning.

When Charles Mantouf, 1202 N. Richmond-st, began arguing with Patrolman Joseph Bayer Saturday afternoon over his right to park outside the marked zones at College-ave and Oneida-st, he was placed under arrest. He was fined $2 and costs by Judge A. M. Spencer, paying $5.29 in all.

Five arrests were made Sunday by Carl Radtke, motorcycle policeman, for various traffic violations. He apprehended Arthur Schutte, Manitowish, at noon for operation of a Ford roadster without a license. His case will be heard later. Henry Thumosen, Kimberly, paid $1 and costs of $3.29 for passing an arterial sign at 2:30 in the afternoon. A fine of $10.40 was levied against Louis Parkholtz, rural route 5, for operating a motorcycle in a reckless manner at 3:49 in the afternoon on N. Oneida-st. His fine was remitted by Judge A. M. Spencer and he held the costs.

Two caught speeding were Willis Kreck, 102 E. Wisconsin-ave, driving at 27 miles an hour on W. College-ave at 5 o'clock Sunday, and Edwin Pulk, Hortonville, going 27 miles an hour at 8 o'clock in the evening on Appleton-st. Pulk paid fine and costs of $13.20 and Kreck was to appear later.

BEE ALIGHTS IN AUTOIST'S EYE; CAR IS DITCHED

A bee was the cause of an accident Saturday afternoon, near Hartford, which caused the automobile of Dr. O. C. Hoyer of this city, medical director of the Aid Association for Lutherans, to cross a ditch and climb a rock pile. The doctor was uninjured, however, but his car was damaged.

Dr. Hoyer was on his way to his summer home at Twin Lakes, in the southern part of the state. The bee flew through the window of the automobile and alighted below the doctor's eye underneath the lens of his spectacles. He quickly plucked the offending insect from his eye with his fingers to prevent a sting. That move caused him to lose control and the automobile left the highway, crossed a ditch and climbed a fence made of rocks.

Farmers who were working nearby helped him extricate the machine and take it to Hartford for repairs.

BRIDGE CLOSED TO TRAFFIC FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

Police Ask Autoists to Keep Cars Several Blocks Away from Cherry-st Doings

Automobiles will not be permitted on or near Cherry-st bridge during the dedication ceremonies there Tuesday afternoon and evening, according to an order issued by Chief George T. Prim of the police department. He requests the cooperation of the public to avoid traffic congestion and the danger of accidents at that time.

The bridge will be barricaded at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and will remain closed until the pavement dance at the north approach is over late in the evening. Cars will be permitted to operate on S. Adams-st, the south approach, only as far as W. Seymour-st. They will be diverted east there and must come into the city over Oneida-st bridge. No cars may proceed past W. Prospect-ave on S. Shery-st during that period.

Chief Prim has reserved the public parking square opposite Conway hotel for the cars of visiting officials. All others from outside the city are asked to use the parking space at city fair grounds on N. Walnut-st or next to the Longstad-Meyer Co. building on Washington-st.

These who drive to the bridge to see the exercises are asked to keep away entirely from the S. Cherry-st intersection and to park their machines in Pierce park, which is only two blocks away. The police desire W. Prospect-ave and S. Cherry-st kept entirely free of parked cars within several blocks of the bridge so traffic can move freely.

LEGION WILL BE IN TWO PARADES

Veterans Asked to Turn Out for Bridge and Memorial Day Programs

One's Johnston post of the American Legion will take part in two parades this week, one at the dedication of Cherry-st bridge Tuesday night and the other on Memorial day, Saturday. Letters have been sent to all members asking that they turn out in numbers for both events.

Legionnaires are to assemble at 6:30 Tuesday evening in front of Masonic temple, E. College-ave, where their line of march will be formed ready to fall in the procession which it moves west on College-ave to the bridge at 7 o'clock. The legion's saxophone band will lead this contingent of the parade. Uniforms will not be required for this occasion.

On Memorial day the veterans are to assemble as customary at 1 o'clock at Elk hall. All who have uniforms are asked to wear them for the parade, but veterans are asked to come anyway if they cannot don military attire. Full uniform will be the dress of the day. Sailors will wear blue suits, white hats and march without leggings unless in the color guard or firing squad.

An especial appeal for attendance is made by R. A. Peterson, legion commander, because of the important part the legion will have in unveiling the monument to the Grand Army of the Republic. All veterans are asked to refrain from making holiday plans that will prevent their participation in the afternoon's ceremonies.

BAND GIVES DINNER FOR BUSINESS MEN

Attendance of at least 100 is expected at the dinner which 120th Field Artillery band is giving at 6 o'clock Monday evening at Conway hotel for Appleton business men. It is the hope of E. F. Munn, director, to form an association which will support the organization. Gustave Keller, Sr., J. L. Johns and Mark Catlin will be the speakers.

BUILD MEDICAL INSTITUTE FOR VETS MEMORIAL

Commander Keller Urges Program for Using Money in Rehabilitation Fund

A program whereby surplus money in the state rehabilitation fund would be turned over to other funds for humanitarian purposes has been worked out by Gov. J. J. Blaine, L. Hugo Keller, Appleton, state commander of the American Legion and Dr. W. F. Lorenz of the state board of control, and the program has been submitted by the governor to the joint finance committee of legislature with a request for adoption.

It is found there is a balance in the rehabilitation fund of much more than the $1,000,000 originally considered advisable. The balance now totals $1,800,000, and with the further receipts of back taxes for soldiers' bonus and soldiers' educational bonus is expected to reach $1,900,000 by July 1, 1927.

To release this money for other humanitarian uses the state department of the American Legion through Commander Keller, submitted a bill with three proposals, as follows:

1. That $50,000 be transferred for restoration camp for the sick and disabled veterans of the World war at Tomahawk, which will be opened June 14.

2. Erection and equipment of a Service Memorial Institute in connection with the general hospital and the medical school, for the advancement and utilization of the knowledge of medicine and hygiene, including rehabilitation.

3. Transfer to the state board of control for the care of patients at the soldiers memorial hospital at Farwell's Point any moneys not needed to carry out the soldier bonus and educational bonus provisions and the foregoing purposes.

In submitting the bill, Mr. Keller expressed the thanks of the Legion to the governor and legislature for their past kindnesses shown the veterans.

"The American Legion finds," he said in a letter, "that it could recommend no greater service or finer memorial to the men who died for the republic and to those who served and still live, than to encourage and promote the scientific, educational and social work in the state medical school and hospital. Promotion of the health of the people of the state and advancement of medical knowledge embodies a purpose so useful and so beneficial that we unhesitatingly recommend it as the form of memorial to which the surplus remaining in the rehabilitation fund be dedicated."

The governor, declared himself in favor of the project and commended the American Legion for their "splendid spirit in this their contribution to the public service," which "fully justifies its existence and bespeaks for its continued success."

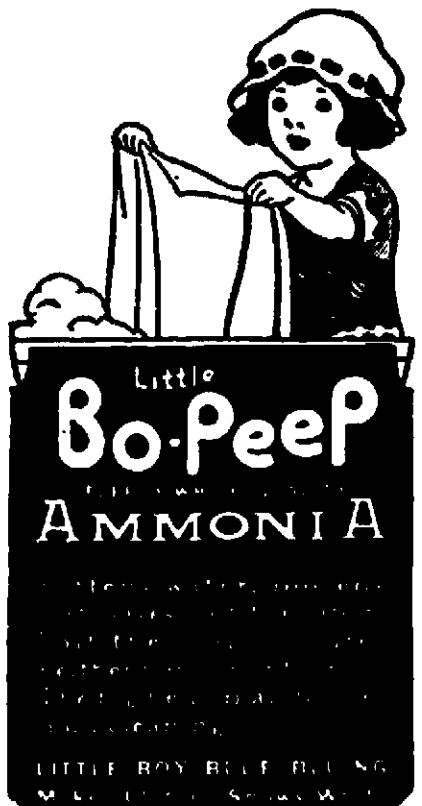

URGE PARENTS TO HELP CHILDREN KEEP UP THRIFT

Miss Stella Lackey, of the Thrift, Incorporated, Chicago, was in Appleton on Friday and Saturday checking up the progress of banking in the schools during the school year. She urges the parents of schoolchildren to cooperate with the Thrift Incorporated during the summer months so that the children will not get out of the habit of saving they learned during the school year. There is of course a tendency to withdraw funds instead of to deposit them during the summer, and it is the responsibility of the parents to carry on the work which the teachers have done during the school year, Miss Lackey said.

Miss Lackey announces that honorable mention will be given to every child who makes eleven deposits during the vacation, thus filling a blue leaf in his bankbook. The deposits may be made at the bank.

The work of the grade schools in Appleton this year, has been remarkable, Miss Lackey says. Columbus school of the Second district has made a 100 percent record, and the other two schools in the district have each been above 90 percent all year. The first district has also done very well in its thrift record.

The wife of an officer, in the revenue service is said to own the first "greenback" issued by the U. S. government, bearing the number one.

St. Olaf Chior Leader Has Won World-wide Fame

Dr. F. Mellus Christiansen, leader and originator of the St. Olaf Lutheran choir which appears in Lawrence Memorial chapel on June 10, is one of the most unassuming men imaginable, despite his reputation as one of the greatest choir leaders of the age. He has never learned to talk about himself or his work, but lets his choir speak for him.

Dr. Christiansen is a native of Norway and came to America when he was 17 years of age. He has worked with his hands and knows the value and benefit of manual labor. But at his home in Larvik and also in California where he went upon his arrival in America, he had a single obsession, and that was to become a musician. He studied and never lost his purpose to become one of the great army of people who provide for our spiritual needs through the medium of music. He lived for a time in Washburn, Wis., and from there went to Minneapolis to study at the North-western conservatory. Later he became a teacher at that institution.

After some years of experience as a music teacher he went to Leipzig, the musical Mecca of Germany and remained there for four years. Here he learned much from the old center of St. Thomas church. Gustav Schreck, who was also a professor at the Royal Conservatory. His association with this man led Dr. Christiansen to conceive the idea of a choir in America, similar to that which officiated at St. Thomas church.

In 1903 he returned to America and became director of music at St. Olaf college, which position he has held ever since. The choir was organized some years later, and since then has acquired worldwide fame.

Dr. Christiansen has a son, Olaf, who promises to follow in his renowned father's footsteps. Two years ago, on his way to Green Bay with the choir, Mr. Christiansen was unable to leave Marinette because of a blizzard, and the choir was without its leader on the evening of the program. Without advertising the fact that his father was missing, young Olaf assumed the leadership of the choir, and led them without a fault, and without the audience's knowledge that a change had been made.

SCOUTS ARE INVITED TO SEE MOTION PICTURE

Boy scouts of Appleton will be guests of Louis Lutz, manager of Fischer Appleton theater, at a matinee at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The motion picture, "The Thundering Herd," with a western story of especial interest to scouts, will be shown at that time. A speaker, probably will be secured to tell the boys about the need of conserving horses in this country. Scouts will be admitted by showing their membership cards.

Officers and Employees of Banks Here Invited to Take Part in Meet

The annual golf tournament staged for the entertainment of members of the Wisconsin Bankers association will be held at the Tripoli Country club, Milwaukee, on Monday, June 15. Probably many of the officers, directors and employees of Appleton member banks of the association will take part in the tournament which will be under the auspices of the Milwaukee Bond club. A silver cup, given by the club, will be presented to the player having the low gross score, and three merchandise prizes will be given for blind bogey contest. After the cup has been won three times by any member, it will then become the permanent possession of the member.

The reception committee which will be at the Tripoli clubhouse to extend the courtesies of the course is: Ralph Phillips, chairman; W. Brock Fuller, W. H. Marshall, W. H. Brand, Guy F. Gregg, John Partridge, and W. L. Secord. The golf and handicap committee which will handle the tournament includes: J. A. Aucter, chairman; T. Wesley Tuttle, and Arthur M. Hewitt.

The general rules of the United States Golf association will govern the play in so far as it is possible, and then they will be modified only by local ground rules. All tournament ments will be at medal play, 18 holes being necessary, to qualify for consideration in the distribution of prizes. Entrants in the tournament must file their own handicaps with the committee. Members of the bank may make up their own foursomes, providing that they make their arrangements with the association before the day of the play. Unless a particular request is filed, all entrants will be placed in foursomes by the committee.

U. S. SEEKS OPERATORS FOR LIGHTHOUSE RADIO

Open competitive examinations for radio operators in the lighthouse service have been announced by the United States Civil Service commission. Receipt of applications will be closed on June 8, and further information and application blanks may be obtained from H. J. Franck, secretary of the United States Civil Service board at the post office here.

The lighthouse district for which radio operators are wanted has its headquarters at Detroit, Mich. Applicants of both sexes are eligible for examination. The position pays a salary of $1,320 per year, with quarters and subsistence.

COUNTY AID FOR CITY PAVING

County aid to the amount of $20,000.00 has been granted by the Outagamie County Board to the city of Appleton for the purpose of paying part of the cost of paving Cherry and Richmond streets. This is a commendable act on the part of the board and we think is fully appreciated by the city administration and the property owners on these streets. Such assistance by the county on streets carrying heavy through traffic and serving as part of the state and county highway system is no more than fair and just, inasmuch as the city of Appleton pays practically one-third of the taxes of the county.

While we commend the county for its fairness and liberality in granting this aid, we cannot approve the dictatorial methods it has pursued in telling the city just how streets are to be improved. We feel that the city should have something to say about this. The $20,000.00 granted by the county will pay less than one-third of the cost of paving Cherry and Richmond streets. The abutting property owners and the city must assume more than two-thirds of the cost of this improvement. In spite of the fact that the city and property owners must pay by far the greater portion of this cost, they have little to say about the manner in which their money is to be spent, provided they are to avail themselves of the aid granted by the county. Not only has the county dictated the width of the pavement, but now it seems that it is going to dictate its type.

The resolution of the county board requires that the pavement on these streets be 36 feet wide. This is probably all right. A narrower pavement would hardly take care of the coming traffic needs of these streets. It is easy to conceive that Cherry and Richmond streets will soon be carrying the bulk of heavy traffic through the city of Appleton. Perhaps in years to come it may be regretted that this pavement was not made even wider. Surely 36 feet should be the minimum, and probably would have been adopted without the direction of the county.

In addition to determining the width of the street the county board also says that these streets must be paved with concrete. Perhaps this is all right, too, but we think that the city and property owners should have something to say about the type of pavement to be laid, but there is little choice for them to make when concrete is specified.

The Post-Crescent would not attempt to say that concrete is not desirable for use on these streets, but it believes that for appearance and cleanliness there are paving materials more desirable than concrete for use on city streets generally. It feels that by all means the city and abutting property owners who pay by far the greater part of the cost should be permitted to decide the type of pavement and material to be used. We think the county has gone too far in telling the city what it can and cannot do in this matter. Appleton is grateful for the $20,000.00, but it probably would be more pleased had it been granted with fewer strings attached to it.

BLAINE TRIES NEW SCHEME

A new move has been made in the legislature to make the state highway commission a political body. Defeated in his original proposal to have the ex-officio members of the commission, consisting of the state geologist and dean of the engineering school of the state university, expelled, Governor Blaine now proposes to increase the commission from five to seven members, giving him the right to appoint five. A bill to this effect has been introduced in the assembly.

We do not see how the legislature, and with it the people of Wisconsin, can endorse such methods of government. If they have any real consideration for the welfare of the state and the admiration of its affairs, they will reject this scheme to reduce our state highway commission to a political adjunct of the machine that rules Wisconsin. There is no need for a commission of seven members. No such proposal has come from those vitally interested in roads, or whose concern in the matter is scientific and disinterested. It is a contrivance of politics alone, and quite in line with much of the other stuff pulled by this administration.

TOO MUCH CONGRESS

Elbert H. Gary, president of the United States Steel corporation, says that business in this country is suffering from congressionalism. There is much, he says, done in congress which is wrong, unnecessary and injurious.

Among the causes of the remaining ailments of business, Mr. Gary includes, besides congress, heavy burdens of taxation, high cost of living and the timid attitude of business men. All of these are of importance. Congress and legislatures are largely responsible for the burdens of taxation. Legislatures are even greater offenders than congress, as we are well aware in this state. Excessive taxes are a large element in the high cost of living, and both are responsible for much of the timidity in business. Most of the business ills today really go back to politics and legislation. We have in the main recovered from the purely economic effects of the war, but we have preserved some artificial obstacles in government and politics.

One of the greatest needs of the United States is a period of governmental economy, lower taxes and rest from legislatures and congress.

WHERE THE HICKS GROW

If you seek suckers, hunt them in the haunts of the hard-boiled. More gold bricks are sold in Wall Street than were ever peddled in Podunk.

It was not in rural Milpitas, but in sophisticated Los Angeles, that two talented conversationalists got $300,000 from movie and automobile magnates, public finance commissioners, investment brokers, high officials and similar "hicks," all on their mere promise to return 10 per cent whenever they succeeded in merging six billion dollars' worth of railroads.

That is where they grow; the hicks—where the white lights glow, the ticker clicks, and everybody knows it all. Uncle Reuben reads his farm paper, and is wise. The easy mark is the one who thinks he is smart enough to beat the game. The tough nuts crack quickest.

HARD ON CONGRESSMEN

One more federal court has sustained the legality tax returns. The final word will have to be spoken by the supreme court, but its decision, if it finds that the information may be given out, will doubtless also include the right of the newspapers to print it.

If any citizen has the right of access to the rolls, the newspaper reporter is included. And whatever information the public has the right to receive, the newspaper has the right to print.

The real calamity will be to Congress, which will then have to take the responsibility which it chronically seeks to escape. Congress either wants these lists published in the newspapers, or it does not. If it does, it must accept the responsibility, including the personal protests of each congressman's most "influential" constituents.

If it does not, it must repeal the law, and take the consequences, including the suspicion from individually less "influential" but far more numerous constituents that their congressman is "shielding the rich."

Either way, it is hard on the poor congressman. For what he really wants is to please each class and to get the votes and other "support" of both.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written on a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

RESISTANCE

In a very fine health book just published by W. B. Saunders company, Philadelphia, and correctly entitled "Personal Hygiene Applied," the author, Dr. Jesse Fearing Williams, of Columbia university, devotes several pages to a discussion of the subject of "colds," and if Dr. Williams were a sub-order psychologist instead of a professor of physiological education in teachers' college, he could not have written anything more ridiculous than he puts in this chapter about "colds." Maybe he intended it as humor. That's the way it reads. The funny part begins on page 222. First there are some little rules for the "prevention of colds," and a good laugh in every rule:

(1) Sufficient sleep in well ventilated room. If body is well protected by bed clothing, there should be no fear of drafts. A direct draft upon the head is undesirable.

I suppose the Columbia professors wear night-caps. If they cover their heads with blankets, for safety. This rule reminds me of the girl who wanted to go out to swim and readily obtained her mother's permission. When Dr. Williams uses the word "protection" in rule No. 1 he betrays his confusion.

(2) Avoid close, poorly ventilated rooms, and especially those with high temperature.

Why not include a special caution about barking one's shins on the furniture or falling downstairs? Do people naturally caution them about it?

(3) Avoid chilling the body. Keep the body warm when riding or sitting quiet. When walking or exercising there is no danger; the mistakes are made when resting following the activity.

I am strong, literally, they tell me, for the first part of rule No. 3—I never chill my body with cold water or cold air, if I can contrive to avoid it. I have known a patient far gone in delirium tremens to chill his body with a rug in the winter and snow in his nightgown—did him no harm—and I have known of other absolutely demented creatures chilling their bodies, but I have never known of anybody of normal intelligence or even a moron with sufficient intelligence to read chilling his body. I wonder what sort of a being Dr. Williams—and the old fogey health officers and superannuated medical men who agree with him—can have in mind when issuing such advice or instruction.

"When walking or exercising there is no danger"—danger of what? Catching cold? Neither Dr. Williams nor anybody else can produce any scientific evidence blanket under the trick title "cold," while walking or exercising; or evidence that one is more likely to contract such disease when resting following such activity. That is just medical hocus pocus, and nothing else.

(4) Keep the general health at the best and highest level possible.

Yes, and keep your shirt on, out of mischief, plugging away and the ten commandments. Keep sober. Keep your fingers crossed. Keep your rent paid or keep as cheerful as possible over your taxes. Keep a horse or a bird or a dog or pigs or a wife or a silver wolf fed.

There are no more rules in Dr. Williams' joke box. He now launches into the discussion of "colds." Willing to forgive and forget and forget the nonsense about drafts and chilling he has just uttered, the author tells us that the severity of "colds" (which or course he wisely refrains from defining) depends upon two factors, first the number and virulence of the invading bacteria, and second the resistance of the body to infection. This factor of resistance is a tough one and we'll chew on it some more by and bye.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Long Wait.

Please tell me if the juice of a whole lemon every night will reduce the weight and how long it takes. (Miss S. D. F.)

Answer.—Yes, it reduces the weight of the crabs about two ounces in five minutes. Most of your sex should be less credulous of the health and beauty hokum dispensed by members of your sex. If elementary physiology were not an improper subject of instruction in the common schools, you would see the absurdity of the notion that reduction can be effected by taking any kind of food. It is amusing, and at the same time sad, to find so many who are fat or feel fat seriously entertaining such notions. Of course, I don't know whether you should even attempt to reduce your weight.

World's News Told In Brief, Simple Style

BY CHARLES F. STEWART

Finance and Foreign Ministers Calliaux and Briand are at work on a plan for taking care of France's war debts. This particularly interests America and Great Britain, the former 4000 million dollars worth. Americans and Britons shouldn't be too hopeful, however. Every previous debt settlement scheme France has proposed has been contingent on Germany's payment of French claims against her. The next one probably will be the same way. If so, neither America nor Britain will accept. The security's too doubtful.

ABD-EL-KRIM

Abd-El-Krim's war against the French and Spanish in Morocco has reached such proportions that France considers it worth while to censor the news. Rather peculiarly, France, the world's strongest military power in the air, is depending mainly on old-fashioned surface tactics against the rebels, though it would seem as if planes would be ideal for the Moroccan type of fighting. This leads to some wondering if the French haven't discovered aviation to be less effective than enthusiasts have represented it.

RAISULI

The celebrated Moroccan bandit, Raisuli, previously on Spain's side, is fighting for Abd-El-Krim now. Raisuli has been a thorn in civilization's side for a generation. A pretty good warrior, he nevertheless relied principally on keeping his enemies from catching him, which they never could. Finally it struck the Spanish that he would be a good man to help them against Abd-El-Krim. For the high pay they offered he was willing enough. But he proved less useful than Spain had hoped. Whereas European trained soldiers had been chiding him vainly for years, Abd-El-Krim rounded him up in five minutes, wiped the Sahara with him and only spared his life on condition that he devote the rest of it to Abd's cause.

DIFFERENT

British delegates at the Geneva arms conference are arguing for the right of any country so desiring to search foreign ships suspected of trying to smuggle guns or ammunition into its territory. Congressman Burton, representing the United States, objects. America having quite enough of the arbitrary searching of her ships during the last war, before she entered it herself. "But you insist on searching ships for hooch," rejoins the British, a comelack Burton admittedly finds embarrassing.

PROHIBITION

Forty Philadelphia policemen have been suspended and more than 400 are under investigation for dry lawbreaking. Hooch smugglers are reported arming speed boats, that shots fired by the coast guard's light artillery may bounce off. Perhaps due to the guard's Atlantic coast blockade, the Pacific fleet is increasing rapidly in size. A dry delegation appealed to President Coolidge to throw the navy into the liquor war but he turned them down. Federal Chief Dry Agent Yellowley says he plans to put 100 boats on the Mississippi, to fight the liquor traffic there. Following an investigation of "invisible imports" into the United States, the commerce department estimates that 76 million American dollars went, in 1923 and 1924, for smuggled foreign liquor, this being the wholesale price abroad.

SUB-CLASSICS

A discussion was going on as to whether "John Halifax, Gentleman" was a book that ought to be in every one's library and that everyone should read, just as everyone should read such undoubted classics as "The Wide, Wide World" by reputation at least. I have never read it but have known about it all my life. But no one would care to assert that it is a classic and it will never have a chance to figure in histories of literature except as a mere title. No well read person need be ashamed of never having read it, yet it lingers on and on. It is not classic, it is a sub-classic.

Another book in this class--there are scores of them but I am mentioning the first that come to mind--is "Reveries of a Bachelor." A half a century ago that had an immense vogue and for many years its popularity continued. As late as when I was a boy it was widely read and I supposed at that time that it was an important book. But it is negligible, although it lives on and has a reputation that is out of all proportion to its value. It will never figure in the histories of literature; it is a sub-classic.

A sub-classic on which there may be less agreement is "Lorna Doone." There will be some who will insist that "Lorna Doone" is a genuine classic and there is no one to establish the point definitely for who is to say where the classic ends and the sub-classic begins? Yet there are probably a hundred people who know the "Lorna Doone" for every person who knows who wrote it. And fewer still know anything except the name of the author. The title has an immense reputation but the book does not mean much in the history of English literature; it lives chiefly as a romantic memory. Not to have read "Vanity Fair" or "Robinson Crusoe" is almost a disgrace; whether or not to read "Lorna Doone" is a matter of individual preference.

Who draws the line between authentic classics and sub-classics? Nobody. But somehow the distinction gets itself made in course of time. After a hundred years no one can today possibly think of "Pride and Prejudice" as being anything but a genuine classic, and no one can possibly think of "The Wide, Wide World" as anything better than a sub-classic.

Which calls to mind the fact that there is a rather large class of books that are not classics in the real sense and yet have a sort of reputation and yet have a sort of convenience that makes their titles at least live on and on. For my own convenience I have invented the term "Sub-classics" for this type of book. Examples will readily occur to anyone. There is or instance the once

Q. How many negroes are in England. Can negroes attend Oxford?
A. R. E.

Q. The census of Great Britain does not give any figures on the Negro population of England. The British Embassy says that Negroes are allowed equal privileges of citizenship with whites in Great Britain. There are millions of Negro subjects in the British Empire. Negroes are also permitted to enter Oxford.

Q. Does the Treasury Department wash paper money? E. D. R.

A. At one time there were washing machines in the Treasury by which the paper money was laundered. However, this has been discontinued.

Q. Why do issues of the Congressional Record cost different prices?
A. R. E.

A. Some issues are much longer than others. Single copies are 2 cents for 24 pages or less and 1 cent extra for each additional 6 pages.

Q. What are the Eskimo huts like?
A. R. E.

A. The dwellings of the Eskimos are of two kinds--tents for summer and houses or huts for winter use. The tents or tupiks are made of seal skins and ikloos or winter homes are far more varied in structure.

Give Prizes To Scouts In Field Meet

The Shamrock troupe of Girl Scouts took first place in scout work for the year 1924-1925 by winning 204 points the highest number of points taken by Appleton troups. The Blue Bell troupe won second place with a score of 171 points and Clover Leaf was third with 85 points. Prize signal flags were awarded the winning troupe. First prize of a troupe pennant for Scout inter-troupe contest for the year based on attendance and dues went to the Beaver troupe. Second and third places were taken by Blue Bell troupe and Shamrock troupe.

These awards were announced at the Girl Scout and Campfire meet which was held Saturday in Jones park. Athletic events were staged in the morning, and a song contest was held immediately after the picnic lunch was served. Oda Kota troupe won the song contest and a prize box of marshmallows. Nightingale and Morning Glory troups won second and third places. The attendance prize for the day went to Shamrock troupe, which received an indoor baseball. Clover Leaf and Morning Glory troups took second and third places.

Individual winners in the field meet were: Orlena Wettengel, Cloverleaf troupe; Doris Warming, Beaver troupe, tied first and second place in free style volley ball throw for accuracy; and Gillina Boettcher, Oda Kota troupe, third place. For girls 14 or over first place went to Margaret Murphy, Shamrock troupe; and second to Viola Becker, Morning Glory troupe.

Blue Bell Ryan, Shamrock troupe took first place in the running broad jump. Irene Anholzer, Florence Nightingale troupe took second place and Wilma Meyer, Cloverland troupe, won third. Hazel Drueger, Cloverleaf troupe won first place in the 50 yard dash for girls of 5 feet and under. Monica VanRyzin, Shamrock troupe, and Alice Doerflinger, Bluebell troupe, took second and third places. Hyacinth Frederick, Nightingale troupe, won first place in the dash for girls 5 feet or over. Second and third place went to Esther Schomisch, Morning Glory troupe, and Lenore Milard, Oda Kota troupe.

Dorothy Brandt, Oda Kota troupe, won first place in the shot put for girls under 14 years of age. Alma Dumke, Nightingale troupe, and Monica Van Ryzin, Shamrock troupe, took second and third places. Viola Becker, Morning Glory troupe, won first place among girls 14 years or over, and Evelyn Robinson, Clover Leaf troupe, won second place. Winners in the running high jump were: girls 5 feet or under, Hazel Drueger, Clover Leaf troupe; Hyacinth Frederick, Nightingale troupe; second, Janette Hughes, Corn-Flower, third; for girls over 5 feet, Margaret Murphy, Shamrock troupe, won first; Helen Vorbeck, Blue Bell troupe, second; Lucille Krahmold, Morning Glory troupe, third. Dorothy Rogers, Jr., and Dorothy Rogers, Sr., won the three-legged race. Margaret Casper and Dorothy Harth, Morning Glory troupe, took second place, and Mary Gloudeaman and Dorothy Calin, Shamrock troupe, took third place.

Points won at the meet were: Shamrock troupe, 110 points; Clover Leaf troupe, 95 points; Morning Glory troupe, 80 points; and Florence Nightingale troupe, 70 points. First place-honors went to the Shamrock troupe, which received the banner.

PLAN COMMUNITY HOMES FOR RETIRED OFFICERS

London—To facilitate cooperation in migration among retired professional classes with small fixed incomes, the Empire Community settlement has been organized here to care for retired military officers, civil servants, engineers and other professional men unfit to go to the dominions as agricultural settlers in the ordinary way. It is proposed to establish them overseas on model farms, something like garden cities, with two to five acres, dwelling, stable and outhouse sites, and club houses where meals may be obtained at a low rate. After five years of this life the settlers would be expected to find a permanent place in the dominion.

Club Board Decides To Sell Camp

The board of directors of Appleton Women's club definitely decided at a meeting on Saturday afternoon in the clubhouse, to offer Happy Hut cottage on Lake Winnebago for sale. This decision was reached after several weeks of conference with the various departments of the club and after Sports council had offered its recommendation to the board.

It also was decided that when the club treasury warranted, an endeavor would be made to provide a better camp. The present camp has outgrown its usefulness, and a new camp would require more isolation, and would need a recreational director on the grounds all through the summer months.

The Sports council also recommended to the board a general treasury in which all funds of the club be deposited to be drawn out by check by one treasurer. Each department will, of course, be allowed to say how its funds shall be disposed of, but it will expedite matters greatly if there is only one treasury.

The money which will be received from the sale of the Women's club cottage may be spent at the discretion of the board, it was decided.

TURKS SACRIFICE TO MOURN BANDIT DEATHS

Kirdjali, Bulgaria—Curious sacrificial ceremonies taking back to pre-Mohammedan times recently were revived by the population of this district, incorrectly designated as Turkish because they are Mohammedans.

The occasion was the extermination of the bandits Ahmed and Mehmed by a government posse.

The Mohammedan population went in to keep mourning for the bandits, the chief feature of the mourning ceremony being the erection of several altars somewhat similar to Jewish altars.

On these altars, with Mohammedan ritual, rams without blood were sacrificed and a rite of fasting and drinking of brandy (Mohammedans never drink wine because it is forbidden by the Koran) was carried on until early morning.

The exterminated bandits are regarded as heroes by this remnant of a vanished race.

DR. W. LORENZ RESIGNS
FROM BOARD OF CONTROL

Madison—Dr. W. F. Lorenz has resigned as a member of the state board of control, Governor Blaine announced Saturday. The reason given for the resignation is that he wishes to return to professional and scientific work. The resignation is effective July 1.

In a letter written to the governor, Dr. Lorenz expresses regret that he is giving up his position, "especially at a time when the joint finance committee of the legislature has voted adequate appropriations," this action by the committee, the letter states, is an assurance that the state will take another progressive step forward in the field of human welfare.

No successor to Dr. Lorenz has been announced. John J. Hannan, secretary of the board of control has been mentioned for the place.

SEARCH FOR AGED MAN IN WOODS IS FUTILE

By Associated Press
Antigo—Sheriff Thomas E. Ford reported Monday that Davis Edick, 73-year-old woodsman, has been missing from his home here since last Wednesday, could not be found by a posse of 250 men, that scoured the dense woods northeast of Antigo in a 12-hour search Sunday.

Sheriff Ford said another attempt to find the missing man would be made Monday. He stated however, that if Edick had lost his way in the woods, as his relatives believed, he would not be alive when found, pointing out that a man his age could not combat the elements for four days without food.

THE THUNDERING HERD

Have you seen "The Covered Wagon" or "North of 36"?

If you have, you'll know what we mean when we say that "The Thundering Herd" belongs in the same class.

The story by Zane Grey has the same historical importance.

The production is of the same gigantic dimensions.

The result is just as thrillingly entertaining.

Picture the setting—the Western wilderness of 1876.

Enormous herds of buffalo running wild across the plains. The rush of pioneers to the new elds of fortune.

The untold slaughter of the Buffalo by the hide-hunters, inciting the Indians to new and savage uprisings.

Picture Zane Grey's greatest romance against that thrilling background!

With a company of 1,000 recreating the amazing scenes and 2,000 maddened buffalo in a REAL stampede.

And the stampede is just ONE clip of thunder in this drama of thundering thrills!

"ZANDER THE GREAT" OFFERS FRESH, SPARKLING COMEDY. Presenting a fresh and sparkling story, a cast of celebrated names, a modern version of life, a plot with a unique twist, and Marion Davies as the star. "Zander the Great" the newest Cosmopolitan production released through Metro-Goldwyn, will be shown at the Elite Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Zander the Great" was adapted by Frances Marion from the Salisbury Field stage play, in which Alice Brady, starred for almost two years on Broadway.

Directed by George William Hill, it contains all the suspense and interest of the stage production with scores of added thrills and delightfully refreshing situations.

Marion Davies is given unusual opportunity for her versatility in the role of Mamie, a little orphan girl, who is left with a motherless child to care for.

Combining deft comedy with strong drama and with a western twang to the later episodes of the picture, "Zander" is a genuine novelty and one which promises a new achievement for Miss Davies.

A COMEDY DRAMA OF THE EAST AND WEST

If the thing you cared most to do was to read and delve into ancient history all day long, and your father, who objected to this, sent you off to the country and commanded that you become a cowboy, and if, after reaching your destination you fell in love with a cow-girl who displayed weakness and lack of courage, would you give the girl up? If you cannot answer this question, see what Lester Cuneo did in "Ridin' Fool," a Ward Lascelle Production, to be shown at the New Bijou Theatre today and Tuesday.

JOG IN SIDEWALK SPOILS BEAUTY OF HOME SECTION

City and Property Owners in Dispute Over Sharp Jog in
W. Summer-st Line

A controversy has arisen between city officials and owners of property over a sidewalk at W. Summer and N. Locust streets that involves settlement of the question as to which of the two parties shall play the role of Santa Claus.

The property owners deny that they are asking the city for anything like a donation, and city officials declare that what they want done cannot be regarded as a donation to the city. Justice is the way each would describe it.

But what is troubling observers of the dispute is: How is the crook in the sidewalk to be removed? The sidewalk edge as now determined is 5 feet out of line with the rest of the walk on Summer-st. The jog in the walk line starts about midway between N. Bennett-st and N. Locust-st and continues as far as N. Richmond-st, according to Robert M. Connelly, city engineer.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

If the sidewalk is built according to the present status, it will extend 5 feet further toward the street, which will make the terrace between the walk and the road that much narrower, and will cause an annoying break in the middle of the block, the engineer pointed out. On a dark night pedestrians might, therefore, upon approaching this crook often accidentally step off the walk upon the lawn.

Mr. Connelly disclaims responsibility for the bend of the walk line from that of the walk beyond and declares this was established before he came to this city.

The section is practically new property. Two years ago there was no street open to connect with N. Richmond-st. At that time W. Summer-st, then known as Lafayette-st, was extended a block and a half to join Summer-st at Richmond-st. Houses began to spring up on the south side of the new street. Last fall N. Locust-st also was opened for a half block more to connect with W. Summer-st. To open this street, the city purchased a lot from Carl Glaser, building contractor, who had started to excavate for a house there.

ONE LINE IS STRAIGHT

Mr. Glaser formerly owned the south portion of the property through which Summer-st was extended, and R. F. Shepherd, real estate agent, owned the north portion. It is the north portion that is now being built up, and it is these residents who will be affected by the variation in the walk line. The line is straight on the south side of the street where the walks are already built.

Mr. Shepherd in an effort to have the walk line straightened offered to sell the 5-foot strip of land for the entire distance for $200, but the city ignored the offer, he said. Even now he would strike a bargain in which the city would build the sidewalk in exchange for the 5 feet, needed to straighten the line. This offer also has been ignored, he says.

FLAT SANTA CLAUS

Alderman Wenzel Hassmann of the Fifth ward, who also regrets the break in the walk, as he believes it mars the beauty of the city, declares the responsibility does not lie with the city. He feels that the property owners on the street ought as public spirited citizens donate the small portion to the city. By doing so, he says, they would improve their property.

"He maintained that the city has already donated 5 feet of land to the property owners on the south side of the street in order to bring the sidewalk there on a line with the rest of the walks. Among those property owners, he says, was Mr. Glaser who is now building a home for his son on the north side of the street."

Mr. Glaser, he said, forced the city to buy a part of his property to extend N. Locust-st as far as W. Summer-st, when he started to build on that lot. And now, he added, the contractor would like to have the city do the same thing in extending N. Locust-st through to W. Wisconsin-ave. In doing so, the city would have to buy the lot and the portion of the house that Mr. Glaser has already started building.

"As far as I am concerned," said Alderman Hassmann, "I wash my hands of the affair, and I don't care if the street is extended through. Neither will I consent to build Mr. Glaser a sidewalk in order to straighten the walk line."

Mr. Glaser, when interviewed, said a city official had threatened to move the sidewalk on the south side back 5 feet in order to line up with the other side. The contractor denies that the city owns the 5 feet. If it intends to move the walks, it also will have to pay for moving the house back so they will not be close to the walk line.

The contractor was bitter in his denunciation of the administration for the manner of its procedure in the dispute. He says that although officials recognize that the walk line deviates from that of the rest of the street, he was forced to build the regularly required 25 feet lack of the line that the city desires to establish. At the time he procured a building permit, George E. Foster, building inspector, instructed him to measure 66 feet from the inside of the south sidewalk, as the proper width of the street, and then build 25 feet lack of this line in order to comply with the zoning ordinance.

Following out this policy, the city has laid its water mains on a line with those in the rest of the block, so that the water pipe instead of being on the outside of the walk will be on the inside, he says.

When O. F. Weissberger, former city engineer, made the street survey, he established a walk line that

16 CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION TO BE HEARD HERE

Industrial Commission Comes
Here for Three Day Hearing
Next Month

Sixteen claims for damages will be heard by the industrial commission under the workmen's compensation act when the commission goes into session at the court house here from June 3 to 5. When the commission holds its hearing it will be glad to be consulted informally by employers and employees on other matters which have arisen under the compensation act.

The cases which are scheduled for hearings next week are as follows: Richard Jaeger vs. Knoke Lumber Co.; Willard VanderVelden vs. Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co.; Rei Hölz comb vs. Fox River Paper Co.; Frank Heroux vs. Menasha Paint and Carbon Co. These cases are scheduled for hearing on the first day. On the second day the following claims will be heard: Alvina Learned vs. Appleton Wire Works; Frank J. Poetel vs. C. R. Meyer and Sons Co.; Arnold Buss vs. John Strange Paper Co.; Joseph A. Rossmel vs. Rossmel and Wagner; W. A. Balgie vs. W. W. Oetlehn, Inc.; George Engle vs. C. and N. W. Railway Co. The following cases are scheduled to be heard on June 5: Arthur Coeser vs. August Belping and Son; Arthur Kessler vs. Combined Locks Paper Co.; Louis Jaeger vs. R. H. Wilson Co.; and Martin Dvorak vs. State of Wisconsin.

LAWRENCE STUDENTS BUILD RADIO RECEIVERS

Under the direction of Merle McCullen, Appleton college senior and supervisor of the physics laboratory, a superheterodyne radio receiver is being constructed at Lawrence college Science hall. A neutrodyne is also being constructed, and then the heterodyne will be made for permanent use.

This work is being done in conjunction with the class in radio taught by Prof. A. D. Powers, and the radio club. Mr. McCullen is president of the club, which was organized this year.

The class in radio is on the college curriculum on alternate years, there being no class last year. The heterodyne under construction will be an 8 tube set, probably the best type of radio known.

Mr. Glaser also presents the appraisal that was made prior to the opening up of Summer-st. He said that the assessment of benefits and damages was entirely out of proportion. Whereas property on the south side of the street in which his family was interested was awarded only $1, that on the opposite side was awarded considerably more.

Mr. Glaser, when interviewed, said a city official had threatened to move the sidewalk on the south side back 5 feet in order to line up with the other side. The contractor denies that the city owns the 5 feet. If it intends to move the walks, it also will have to pay for moving the house back so they will not be close to the walk line.

TEAR DOWN HOUSE TO MAKE ROOM FOR SCHOOL

Another old landmark is crumbling under the wheels of progress here to make way for a possible addition to the Appleton Vocational School. The old Willy home on Kimball-st near the vocational school is being wrecked by the Appleton Wrecking Co. and will be only a memory in three weeks. The house is built of brick, approximately 40 feet by 50 feet in size and for years was regarded as one of the finest homes in the city. It was purchased by the vocational school four or five years ago, and since that time has been vacant. For a time the school authorities had considered restoring it for use as an apartment house, but it was found that the cost would be far greater than the possible rental would warrant. The old house stands on the bluff above the Fox river and even now presents an imposing appearance from the S. Onondaga bridge. The site of the building will be left vacant until needed for school purposes.

LONDON UNEARTHS BONES OF TROPICAL ANIMALS

By Associated Press
London—A collection of fossil bones, unearthed in a stratum of sand and gravel 30 feet below the surface soil during an excavation of an office building foundation near Charing Cross, one of the busiest traffic centers of London, has been identified by Sir Arthur Keith and R. H. Burne, prominent scientists, as containing the fossilized remains of the hippopotamus, the mammoth, the auroch or great ox, and of a great antlered variety of red deer.

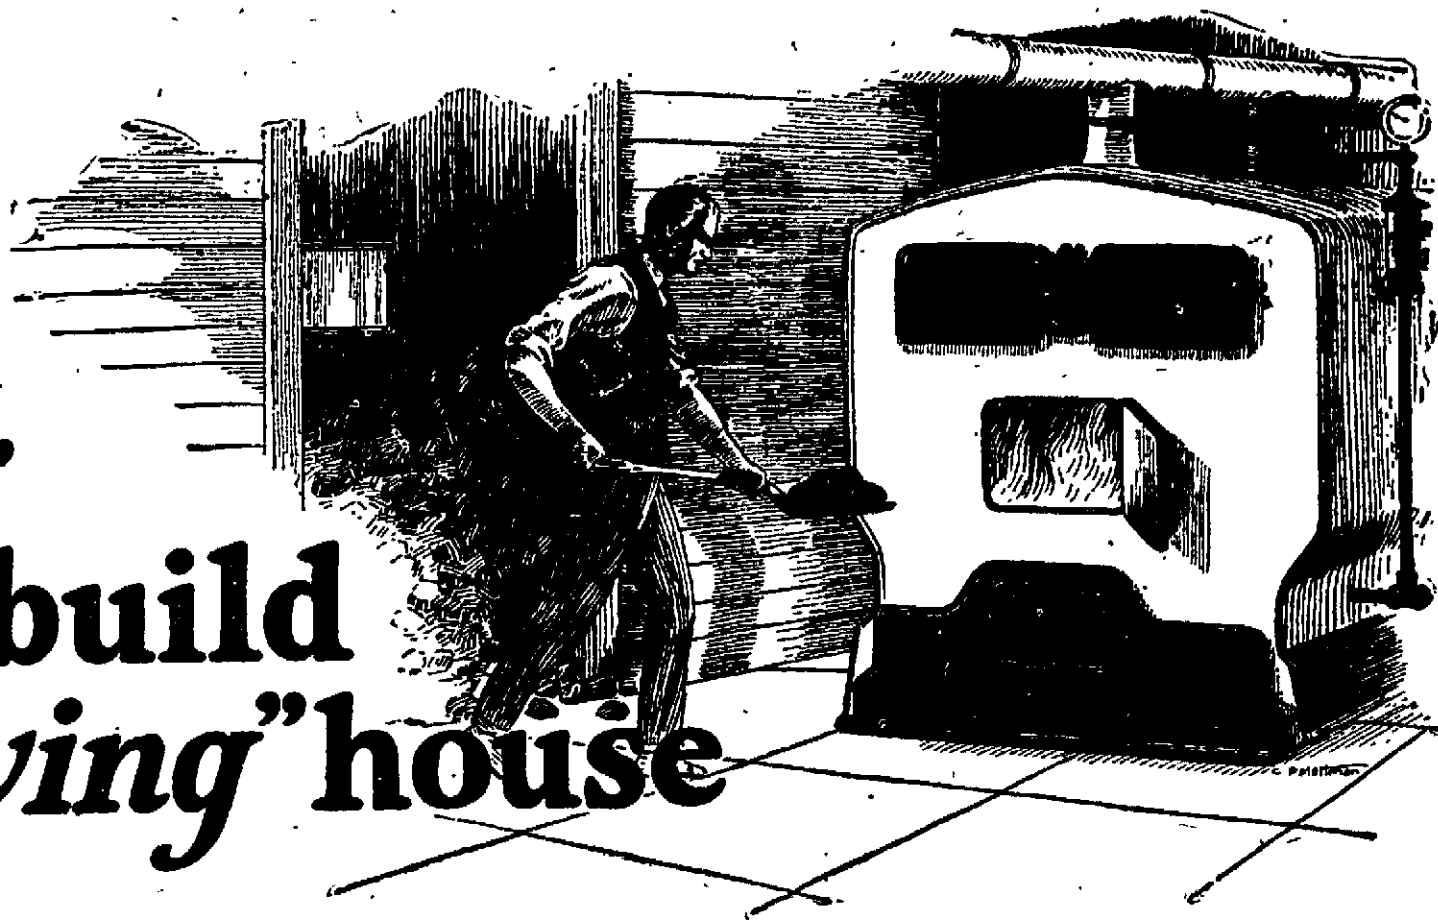

Although no stone implements were found on this site, these have been found at nearby places during the past excavations and have indicated that the prehistoric animals had man as their companion. The terraces from which the fossil have been taken and on which a great part of London is built, are ancient beds of the River Thames.

The unearthed collection has been presented to the Royal College of Surgeons.

Hunt up a builder who can build a "fuel-saving" house

THAT age old problem of "heating the house" has been enormously simplified of late years. True, there are still far too many families whose only way to keep warm is to have an over-size heating plant and keep shovelling in the coal.

But the man who buys or builds a truly modern home today has no such difficulty.

These truly modern homes are Heat Insulated.

And when we say, "Heat Insulated," we mean that inside the walls and under the roof (and possibly also between the floors) these thoroughly modern houses are lined with a new building material known as "Heat Insulation."

Heat Insulation attacks the problem of keeping a house warm from a new angle:

It stops the leakage of heat out through the walls and roof of the house.

Now just to see what Heat Insulation means to you specifically in your comfort and your economy, consider these actual tests made up in the Northwest.

Three different types of home construction were tested out—with startling results. These results are typical. They will prove out everywhere in houses of all sizes and in every climate.

Frame house with wood shingled roof—a saving of more than one-third of the heat.

Stucco house with asphalt shingled roof—a saving of nearly one-half the heat.

Brick house with slate roof—a saving of nearly one-half the heat.

Furthermore, Heat Insulation of the very finest kind is inexpensive and easy to apply.

To get the same heat saving results with any other material would necessitate 1½ inches extra of pine lumber all over the house. Or 95 thicknesses of building paper. Or 8 inches extra of brick. Or 17 inches extra of plaster.

All prohibitive in cost and impracticable to do.

YOUR own mind will tell you better than many words the benefits that Heat Insulation can be depended upon to bring into your family life. There is a saving of from one-quarter to one-third of your fuel.

There is the free use of all rooms in your house all winter. No cold corners and draughty floors. No rooms shut off because they are hard to heat.

If you are building your home you can plan for smaller heating equipment. And you will not have to attend to it so often.

The whole family is going to be warmer in winter, cooler in summer, brighter and healthier the year round.

Do you wonder that the finest type of building contractor today has seized on Heat Insulation as one of the great contributions to the building of thoroughly modern homes for his customers.

In Heat Insulation he sees the first real modern contribution to the structure of a house.

When you take him a set of plans, he will suggest Heat Insulation.

If you go to him to inspect one of the houses that he has already built for sale—he will take pride in calling attention to the fact that "This house is Heat Insulated."

He will point out the fact that a prevailing cold wind makes little if any difference to a Heat Insulated house. The wind cannot get in through the Heat Insulation.

HEAT Insulation is a very big subject. To you personally it means comfort, convenience, and economy.

To the Nation at large it means much more than that. It means the conservation of coal that is now wasted in trying to heat non-insulated homes.

When you come to consider grades of Heat Insulation you will find that Balsam-Wool is preferred by the builders who demand maximum efficiency at minimum cost.

In fact, it costs so little that anyone can afford to have Heat Insulation of the highest grade.

$500 REALIZED FROM SALE OF POPPIES HERE

Cold Weather and Lack of Workers Cut Down Revenue for Disabled Veterans

More than 4,500 poppies and 25 wreaths, netting about $500, were sold Saturday afternoon by twenty-five young women stationed on down town street corners in the annual memorial poppy sale, conducted by the American Legion auxiliary. The poppies were made by veterans of the World war and the proceeds of the sale will be used for veterans who are convalescing in government hospitals and for families of needy veterans. More than 12,000 poppies were sold last year, but on account of the cold weather and lack of workers not half this number was sold this year.

A prize was offered by the Novelty Book Shop, to the person turning in the most money for the sale of poppies. It was awarded to Mrs. Clark Goodland, who turned in $45. The auxiliary has expressed its thanks to those who participated in the sale of the poppies. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. George Hogarty, Mrs. Phil Miller and Mrs. C. W. Mory.

GUARDS STILL AWAIT ORDERS

Company D Still Ready to Leave on Short Notice to Fight Forest Fires

No new instructions have been received by Captain E. F. Grundeman, commanding officer of Company D, 127th Infantry, with reference to fighting fires in northern Wisconsin. The guards are to keep themselves in readiness to answer a call from Lazona for fresh men if the fires which have been raging in the northern part of the state should break out again. Three companies of the national guard have been returned to their homes from the scene of the fires, inasmuch as the fires were under better control over the weekend. The Rhineland troop, which has been in action since last Saturday is still on guard, and will remain in the woods to prevent further spread of the fires which were encroaching on the cottages until the rain on Saturday checked them.

BOY SCOUTS SUMMONED FOR BRIDGE CEREMONY

All boy scouts in Appleton will take part in the bridge dedication ceremony Tuesday night, either by assisting in the work of the project or marching in the parade. P. O. Keicher, executive of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, has issued an appeal for details of five boys from each troop who will light and watch the red flares which will be burned on Cherry-st bridge during the exercises. All others are to assemble at Saturday afternoon and march in the parade which starts at 7 o'clock for the bridge.

HOLMES WILL SPEAK AT BOY SCOUT MOVIE

Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of the First Methodist church, will give a short talk to the boy scouts who are guests of Fischer Appleton theater at a matinee at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The movie, "The Thundering Herd," depicting the old west, is to be shown. Every scout will be admitted either by appearing in uniform or presenting a registration card. Dr. Holmes will tell how the buffalo almost became extinct and how conservation steps have been taken to save these and other animals. He will inform the scouts how they can help this movement.

CARVER MAKES REPLICA OF ENGLISH PARLIAMENT

By Associated Press
London.—The success which Queen Mary's dolls house achieved as a collector of beautiful things, has encouraged three public men to commission a famous woodcarver to build an oak model of the house of parliament. This will be constructed on a half-inch scale, 10 feet long, 2 1/2 feet wide and 15 feet high.

The carver estimates it will take five years to complete the model, which will occupy 21 men daily, two of these being expert carvers. The cost will approximate $225,000. The foundation of the structure will be of oak, but the rest of the model will be of oak and all of the carving true to detail. After exhibition in London it is planned to take the model around the country, all proceeds going to hospital funds.

LOCAL LUTHERAN SLATE IS LOSER

Delegation of More Than 50
from Here Attend State
Walther Convention

Appleton's slate for officers lost out at the state convention of the Walther league at Milwaukee Saturday and Sunday, at which more than 50 young people from St. Paul and Mount Olive Lutheran churches were present. The Milwaukee district ticket was elected, with A. B. Rowold of that city succeeding himself as president.

The custom is to elect all officers from one district so they will be near one another. Names of Walter Voeks and Herbert Schultz of this city were proposed on a ticket with E. F. Hueschen of Berlin for president.

One of the speakers at the convention was Walter Voeks of St. Paul Lutheran Young Peoples society, this city. He gave the response for the delegates to the address of welcome made by the Rev. B. A. Maurer, president of the Milwaukee local Walther board.

Racine won the state bowling championship by defeating the team from St. Paul church here in games rolled during the convention period. The Appleton men challenged those of Racine to the match. Those who rolled for this city were Tim Sauer, Jr., John Behnke Jr., Raymond Nehls, Adolph Jahneke and Walter Voeks.

Several projects were given support by the state Walther league in resolutions which were adopted at the convention. The Wisconsin synod was urged to proceed with erection of the Lutheran chapel at the University of Wisconsin, with promise that the Walther league would help the project. The league also will raise the money to build a boys' home in Milwaukee similar to that maintained for girls. The home provides a lodge place for Lutheran young people who are employed or staying in Milwaukee.

Sessions of the convention and the annual banquet Saturday evening were held in the American Lutheran association building, and the religious services Sunday at Trinity Lutheran church. The principal speaker at the banquet was Fred W. Luenig of the Milwaukee Journal. The Rev. J. Bailey of Chicago, national education secretary of the Walther league, also took a prominent part in the convention.

DISCOVER TRACE IN YUCATAN OF VANISHED RACE

Scientists Link Ruins of Chichen-Itza With Destiny of Entire Human Family

Chichen-Itza, Yucatan.—The origin and destiny of the human family are curiously linked in the ruins of Yucatan.

While science seeks a clue to mankind's beginnings in the ancient Maya, religion searches for a key to the secret of the grave.

The Carnegie Institution excavations now under way at Chichen-Itza aim to uncover the story of a great vanished race. Perhaps that story will lift the veil from the dawn of civilization.

But the followers of esoteric creeds also journey here in the hope of lifting the veil from the mystery of death. In the ritual of various occult societies, Yucatan is referred to as the birthplace of the "sacred mysteries." Many schools of esoteric philosophy have long regarded Chichen-Itza as a Mecca.

The claim has received the sanction of several eminent Mayan scholars and archaeologists, notably Dr. Auguste Le Plongeon. His translation of one of the four known Maya books, to escape the flames at the hands of Bishop Landa in 1541, gives to the original Maya empire, the name of "Mayax," meaning the "primordial land." It designates Chichen-Itza as the heart of a marvelous parent civilization which extended its influence to distant nations. As the center of Mayan art, science and religion, it became a vast metropolis, visited by pilgrims and wise men from all parts of the earth.

Dr. Le Plongeon's translation also indicates that here, not less than 11,500 years ago, were developed the Egyptian rites of Osiris, the Pythagorean theory of numbers, the astronomical lore of the Chaldeans, the Eleusian mysteries and the Orphic ceremonies of Greece.

But, it is the pursuit of knowledge on the doctrine of re-incarnation that brings Theosophists, Rosicrucians and other students to Chichen-Itza. This knowledge, they believe, was in the possession of the priests of the "holy and learned Itz'es" and was recorded by them in the symbolic sculptures that adorn certain temples.

About 30 years ago, a group of disciples of Madame Helena P. Blavatsky, the mother of modern Theosophy, purchased a site in the crumbling capital from Edward H. Thompson, owner of the hacienda on which the ruins stand. The property is near the strikingly beautiful little "Iglesia," or church still called "Itz'es," or "House of God" by the local Indians.

Once a year, Theosophists gather before this building to commemorate with solemn service the wisdom of the Maya-seers and to pray for light on the south's path through the cycles. The "Iglesia" is one of the four small structures of yellowish coated limestone, collectively known as the "Nunnery." They are unrivaled on the continent as examples of rich and fantastic pre-Hispanic ornamentation. Archaeologists have variously placed their age between 2,500 and 800 years.

ORDER HEARING ON STREET PLEA

Third Ward Property Owners
Want to Open Street to Develop Building Lots

Property owners of Blocks 35 and 36 in the Third ward probably will be given a hearing by the street and bridge committee this week on their plea for opening a street through the section bounded by Prospect-ave on the south, Fourth-st on the north, Miller-st on the west and Story-st on the east. The street and bridge committee and the other members of the common council were in favor of a tentative Third-st, west through the block, but Earl Miller, one of the chief property owners, and several other taxpayers in that block wish to have a street run north and south through the middle of the block.

Opening of a street through the block would open up much valuable property for building purposes. It is contended, Third-st has been graded up to Story-st, where it can go no farther because of a house situated directly on the prospective right of way. The city would have to purchase this property in order to extend the street.

USE TRAVELING STAGE TO HELP RED PROPAGANDA

Communists Produce Plays to Portray Struggle of Labor
Against Bourgeois

By Associated Press
Berlin.—One of the most effective instruments of propaganda yet devised by the Communists is the so-called Proletarian Wandering theater which was first put to use during the last election campaign. It is popular in the real sense of the word, reflecting the wishes, the hopes and the hatreds of the broad masses.

Wherever in the workmen's quarters there is a beerhall or other large room with a stage available, the Communists rent it on some convenient evening and offer their "Review in Fourteen Scenes." As the scenes unfold before the eyes of the workers, two men, one representing the Class Struggle, the other the Bourgeois, furnish the proper comment. They thus take the place of the chorus in the ancient Greek tragedy or of the interlocutor in the American minstrel show.

One scene depicts a Communist as he is about to be sentenced to four imprisonment for thinking differently from the accepted standards. He makes a last impassioned plea to the jury, which is nothing but a veiled campaign speech, but which the listeners swallow whole because it is fed to them in the form of drama.

Another scene depicts a visitor from Mars coming to the earth and finding to his surprise that there are people who actually slave and starve so that someone else may wallow in wealth. He can only explain this situation by remembering that the earth is in part people by a race of crazy men called proletarians.

COLD RAIN PUT DAMPER ON BOY SCOUT PROGRAM

Bargain Day Festivities Called Off Because of Dismal
Weather Saturday

Menasha—The bargain day program Saturday afternoon was abandoned because of rain before it got fairly started. More than 2,000 persons assembled at the public triangle and the opening selections by the Twin City band and saw it and the boys scout and others march away to the outskirts of the city to put on certain contests, but did not see them return as they broke ranks near St. John church when it started to rain. An effort was made by P. O. Keicher, executive of the boys scouts to secure either the S. A. Cook armory or the Menasha auditorium for the scout contests to be held later in the afternoon, but the persons in charge of them could not be located in time. It is the executive's intention to arrange for carrying out the program at a later date. As soon as the program was abandoned the visiting scouts, chilled and wet but game like those of the Twin Cities, left for home.

The cold weather and rain meant a loss of thousands of dollars to the local merchants who put forth a great deal of effort and went to considerable expense in preparing for bargain day. They not only went to the trouble of decorating their stores and windows, but many of them rearranged their stocks in offering special bargains. They had a good trade as it was considering the weather man was against them and have no complaints to offer.

MENASHA'S NEW SPEED COP STARTS HIS WORK

Menasha—Bruno Kilshek, who was reappointed motorcycle officer at the adjourned meeting of the common council Friday evening, started work Saturday morning. The city has been without a "speed cop" for several months, during which time members of the police department enforced traffic regulations.

DRIVER GOES TO SLEEP AND RUNS INTO POLE

Menasha—An Oakland touring car, license number 31,978C, issued to Julius Mellenhain, was badly damaged early Saturday morning when it hit a culvert five miles south of Menasha. The driver was returning home from Winneconne and he fell asleep at the wheel. The front axle was bent and the running board and fenders on one side were damaged.

HOLY NAME MEN WILL MARCH AT MARINETTE

Menasha—Holy Name society of St. Mary church will be well represented at a convention and rally at Marinette next Sunday. The program will open with a political mass at 10 o'clock in the morning. A feature of the afternoon program will be a parade. The local society has a membership of 350 and ranks third in the diocese. It is led by Little Chute and Two Rivers.

MENASHA PERSONALS

Menasha—Mrs. T. E. McGillan, Mrs. F. M. Corry and Mrs. John Meyer attended the state convention of the Catholic Daughters of America at Monroe last week. Nic Schaefer of Appleton was a Menasha visitor Monday.

Harvey Nash of Neenah has accepted a position in W. E. Held's Electric Service.

Among those who are expected to be present are Mr. and Mrs. John Debbertin and sons Charles, William and Bruce, George Sells, Mr. and Mrs. William Stowe and sons Kenneth and Robert of Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stowe and daughter Doris of Three Rivers, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stowe and son Richard of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boehrlein of Neenah; Ethel and Nellie Stowe and Henry Stowe of Menasha.

NEENAH POLICE HEAR OF THEFTS OF BOATS

Neenah—Boat thieves have been reported to the police department within the last few days by owners of row boats and skiffs which have been taken from the bathhouses. The intruders gained entrance to the boat houses by breaking of locks from the doors on the river side. Oars, fishing tackle and hunting equipment are among articles stolen with the boats.

PICK AUGUST 22 AS DATE FOR BIG SHRINE MEETING

Milwaukee Shriners Assure Valley Men That Cream City Will Be Well Represented

Neenah—Saturday, August 22 was selected as the date for the big Shrine ceremonial which will be conducted in Neenah and Menasha at a dinner Saturday evening in the Valley Inn in this city. Sixty ambassadors representing shrines of Green Bay, Oshkosh, Appleton, Fond du Lac and Berlin were in attendance. Among the notables of the order who gave short talks were Potentate Fred Dornier and Past Potentate H. Zarse of Milwaukee, who assured those present that Milwaukee will be represented by several hundred members and who will bring with them the complete Shrine band, the Oriental band and the apollo, and will give a drill upon the streets during the evening. The Shrine band will give a drill during the evening. The initiation will be in charge of the Milwaukee Shriners.

Arrangements were completed to start the work of initiation of the 200 candidates in the afternoon in S. A. Cook armory. With all shrines in the state represented at the ceremonial. About 2,500 visitors will come to the twin cities for the occasion and remain for the supper which probably will be served in one of the parks at 6 o'clock.

Joseph Hill is the president of the Twin City Shrine club which has the arrangements in hand. Other officers are J. W. Hewitt, vice president; Dr. H. A. Briggs, secretary, and C. W. Sawyer, treasurer.

The department responded but found nothing but a kettle of meat which the owner of the flat had left boiling on the stove.

HUSTLERS EAT ON WAY TO FILL APPOINTMENTS

By Associated Press
Berlin—"Eat while you walk to your office" is the slogan of a new species of street peddlers which has recently invaded the downtown section of Berlin. Imitating Swedish models, these peddlers wheel an immaculately white cart through the city, on the top of which, under a glass globe, are exhibited sandwiches at a price of three for 50 or 75 pennings, depending upon the quality of the meat or cheese offered.

The peddlers themselves are also in white, in the familiar garb of a chef. They report a good business thus far. Hustlers who are disgruntled at the slow method of serving which is characteristic of European restaurants generally, welcome this means of getting away with a noon day lunch as they rush from one appointment to another.

Table Cloth
Back Again
For Dinner

To have or not to have—a table cloth. For a time it looked extremely likely that the long cloth, once thought so indispensable for family "gatherings" around the festive board, would be quite superseded by the smaller luncheon sets and doilies.

Perhaps the war-time conditions had as much to do with this as anything else, because the high price of linen at that time put it quite out of the reach of the moderate household and then, too, the general spirit of the time suggested that housewives put away their nice linen for "best" and reduce labor and cost of laundering by using the smaller pieces.

FOR FORMAL DINNERS
The damask has staged a comeback. One large firm reports 5,000 full-size tablecloths sold in one month.

While the small pieces possess the element of convenience in handling and laundering, it is felt that the proper setting for semi-formal dinners is the long cloth. At the same time, however, the small pieces hold their favor and are likely to continue in great demand so long as people live in small homes and apartments, and the servant and laundering problems are what they are.

That the volume done in damask has not affected the sale of luncheon sets and doilies.

There seems to be little interest in the large size napkins to go with the damask sets, except, of course, in some de-luxe numbers. As a rule the 22-inch napkin is the best liked.

SIZE OF CLOTH
The size of the tablecloth should be large enough to allow it to hang from 10 to 12 inches below the edge of the table. For a beautifully set table the damask should lie smooth and flat and fall in gleaming folds over the corners. To bring out the beauty and elegance of the pattern the linen must be carefully ironed and there should be few, if any, folds. If it has been folded, the center fold must be absolutely accurate in following the center line of the table. No textile used in the household is to be compared with damask for cleanliness, dignity and sterling beauty. For durability, small patterns are to be preferred to the large ones, because the weave binds the yarn of the smaller figures at closer intervals and so gives a firmer cloth. A good quality feels firm, thick, and gives a good quality. It crushes easily in the hand, feels papery and emits a crackling noise, it is not a "good buy."

Household Hints

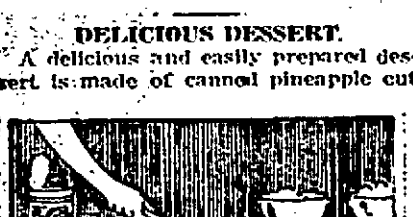

KEEP KETTLE DRY
When the teakettle is not in use it should be emptied and allowed to dry.

BE PREPARED
If you are to give a party have your silver, china, glassware and linen all counted and ready the day before so that you have only to arrange it the day of your party.

WASH SEPARATELY
Wash each piece of cut glass separately in warm water and ammonia and rinse and dry at once.

DELICIOUS DESSERT
A delicious and easily prepared dessert is made of canned pineapple cut in small pieces, put in sherbet glasses and covered with custard and meringue.

How To Make Homes Cozy

WING CHAIR FOR THE FIRE PLACE

One of the most convenient places to set a wing chair is at the side of the fireplace. The wing chair is for comfort and the fireplace is for coziness. Both make an ideal combination.

ATTRACTIVE FACE AND FIGURE ESSENTIAL FOR CANDIDATES OF NEW MOVIE SCHOOL

New York—Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has taken the first practical step in the establishment of training schools for film actors and actresses—long considered desirable in the industry—by initiating the Paramount Picture School at its Long Island City studios.

The sponsors hope by this means to substitute a far better method of recruiting screen talent than the present haphazard and costly way of testing and developing raw material from the "extra" lists. And the embryonic actors will probably find intensive training under expert instruction, with the screen as a specific goal, as advantageous as the studio environment, so that the arrangement should not prove uneconomical.

The initial student body is to be limited to 20-10 men between the ages of 18 and 30 and 10 women between the ages of 16 and 25. These are to be selected through a series of elimination tests which, it is announced, are to cover every section of the country.

EXCEPTIONAL ATTRACTION
"Candidates," reads the invitation, "must have exceptional attraction of face and figure, good photographic qualities, good health, latent acting ability, versatility, intelligence, good principles, ambition, and at least a common school education."

Paramount agents in various zones throughout the United States will receive applications up to May 16, each applicant being requested to send three photographs, front face, side view and full length figure.

The candidates will be narrowed down to five possible students from each district, this total again being winnowed to 15 for pictorial inspection by Jesse Lasky, vice president of Famous Players-Lasky. These final selections will be certified as worthy a film test to be given at various branch offices.

"Candidates" will be charged to candidates for these screen tests, but they will be required to pay their expenses to and from home.

The most promising 50 of the 75 screen tested will be given special interviews by Mr. Lasky and his appointees. These interviews to be held from June 27 to June 29. Fifteen of them from the eastern section will report at New York, 20 at Chicago, and the remaining 15 at Hollywood, Calif. And on July 16 the score of successful novices will be required to report for enrollment at New York.

CANDIDATES SHOULD MARK THIS: "The tuition will be $500 a term. In addition students must be prepared to pay their living expenses at the rate of $25 a week. And since the school term will approximate 22 weeks, $575 will be necessary for living expenses, making a total requirement of $1075 for each student."

Students will be considered on probation for the first four weeks.

It is Jesse Lasky's belief that "while the only way anyone can learn to be a finished actor is by acting, the teaching of the selected young hopefuls, by experts actually in motion picture production, will enable them to acquire within a reasonably short time what would ordinarily require years of groping and experimenting."

LONDON CALLS
CRAZE FOR RED
SCARLET FOLLY

London—Strapless lingerie has taken a firm hold here. It has to be a firm hold to prevent one's losing vest and equanimity at the same time. The strapless vogue is especially applicable for wear with evening frocks. Nottingham lace is being freely used in the trimming of these garments.

Scarlet folly is what London is calling the craze for red which is seen everywhere. Red shoes, gloves and stockings and red bags are omnipresent and lucky is the woman who has rubies. If she has not and wants them she must pay fabulous prices at present.

FASHIONABLE GLOVES
Paris—One of the few small hats made entirely of fur to make its appearance is of fine black pelt in seventeenth century style, with extremely high pointed crown at the top of which is posed a large black and gold butterfly.

Contrast in shades rather than ornamentation now marks the fashionable short gloves. One pair, for example, is of beige suede with a fringe of conner which is flat at the wrist, and therefore does not spoil the line of the dress cuff.

Sport costumes for spring and for the south are jumping to jumpers. These, of fine knitted wool materials, are usually of the turtle neck type which are buttoned on the shoulder. They are worn with matching skirts of similar material distinguished by heavy plaits to give freedom of movement.

NEW "GAME" BAG
New York—The flat envelope bag of leather or tapestry still continues eminently fashionable but some new features have been added to the accessories with which it is equipped. One new bag has pockets for a pair of dice and its owner calls it her game bag.

Flounciness and flares (are) the watchwords today among the designers of youthful silk frocks. This is especially noticeable in the new design for young girls. These simple dresses in one piece design, with square neck and diminutive sleeves, are being widely purchased by college girls for spring.

Woolen stockings are being extensively worn with tailored and tailored suits at present. The soft leather mixtures as well as the checks and unusual designs go excellently with the tailored as well as sport costumes.

THESE GIRLS ARE CONSIDERED THREE OF THE BEST "MOVIE FINDS" THIS YEAR. ABOVE IS ESTHER RALSTON, BELOW AT THE LEFT MARY BRIAN, AND AT THE RIGHT, BETTY BRONSON.

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHER-TO RUTH BURKE

My Dear Mrs. Burke: I hope you will pardon my writing to you, and that you will take this letter in the same spirit in which it is written.

I assure you that I would never write it if I did not think you would understand what I am going to say better than most women I know. I am really at my wits' end and I can only turn to you to help me, thing nor anybody.

Yes, I quite agree with you, I know he is only getting what he deserves. You think Leslie is ever going to forgive Mr. Prescott?

If she is not going to do so, she had better tell him so immediately and get the break over as soon as possible. He is at present no good to this business, himself, nor any coming to him, but that does not straighten out things here at the plant. He keeps everyone on the jump down here with his orders one minute while he countermands the next. He doesn't seem able to think consecutively and he seems to have lost all that great constructive ability which I have admired in him so much in the past.

Honestly, Mrs. Burke, I do not think that Mr. Prescott realized that his absence at the time of Leslie's sister's death could make any particular difference to her. He is one of those men that is always flattering himself that he never makes a mistake about women, and he misunderstands them not at all.

You and I know that when a man does something disagreeable to go through and that was what Alice's death meant to him—John Alden Prescott—he simply gets through with it with as little fuss as possible. He doesn't want anyone outside to help and more than all else he does not want any outside sympathy. His whole desire is to get it over and off his mind as soon as possible.

Doesn't even want to talk about it for fear he will remember it a little longer than is necessary.

Besides, you know, Mrs. Burke, that Mr. Prescott did not like Alice and I think he thought if he were home he might say something that would hurt Leslie more than if he stayed away.

Do not misunderstand me, I am writing no brief for John Alden Prescott. I am almost sure had I been Leslie I would have broken with him then and there. I would not have done, however, what Leslie is doing. I would not have gone away to eat my heart out in solitude and sorrow.

I have the greatest sympathy for Leslie and I acknowledge her right,ness in most matters. She is looking at the thing only from a woman's viewpoint now, however, and in this case, though, I think she is wrong.

JOHNNY SWEEP WAKES UP

The March Hare looked over the edge of the big barrel where Johnny Sweep was peacefully sleeping beside the broom store.

"Zzz! Snrr! Zzz! Snrr!" went Johnny.

Nancy and Nick laughed and even the March Hare smiled a sort of a thoughtful, worried smile. "Wake up, Johnny Sweep!" he shouted.

"Wh-whaz at?" asked Johnny sleepily. "I won't do any such zing."

And he turned over and began to snore all over again. This time the March Hare reached in and shook him. "Wake up, wake up, Johnny—spring's here and there are about a million chimneys to sweep out," he said loudly.

"S too many," muttered Johnny. And off he went to sleep again.

Indeed it looked as though Johnny was ready to sleep through another winter, but suddenly Dick had an idea.

He ran off and was back in two minutes with an old can full of water. "I'll sprinkle him," he said.

"That'll get him out."

"Huh! Rain!" shouted Johnny, jumping up and rolling out of his barrel the minute the water touched him. "You'd have thought he was yelling 'fire,' he was so excited. But if you ask anybody will tell you that chimney sweeps simply hate water."

"Hello, here!" he exclaimed when he saw that the sky was clear and the moon out, and that three very interested people were looking at him.

"Hello!" said Nancy and Nick and the March Hare.

"Well," said Johnny. "Now that I've had my bath and breakfast is over, will you please tell me what you are starting for—and why you are here, and what you woke me up for, and a few thousand other things besides?"

"All explained in two words," said the March Hare. "Spring's here."

"Well, well, well! So it is!" grinned Johnny. "And that means water, doesn't it?"

"It certainly does," said the March Hare.

"I cleaned all the chimneys at Christmas for Santa Claus," Johnny reminded him.

"They're all full of soot again," said the March Hare. "The Fairy Queen has had a million letters, nearly asking where you were. Nobody can get his fire to draw decently and—"

"All right! All right! I'm going," said Johnny. "I'll have to go into the broom store when it opens and buy me a new broom though. My old one is worn out. Come along please, and help me to pick a good one."

"Do you wish to hear some of the letters?" asked the March Hare, reaching down into his pocket.

"Sure," said Johnny. "I'll bet they are cranky ones."

"Judge for yourself," said the hare. "Here, Nancy, please read these out loud. My eyes smart a little and the moon doesn't give much light."

But the Twins and Johnny Sweep knew that the March Hare's education had been neglected and he never got past the line in the First Reader that says, "I see a dog."

Nancy unfolded the first letter and

KITCHEN

Breakfast—Stewed rhubarb, scrambled eggs with rice, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of mushroom soup, toasted crackers, spring salad, brown bread and butter sandwiches, Spanish cream, walnut crackers, milk, tea.

Dinner—Cream of tomato soup, broiled fish, lemon butter, scalloped potatoes, buttered string beans, French onion, rhubarb frappe, sponge cake, milk, coffee.

No cereal is planned for breakfast since the scrambled eggs with rice combined with the whole wheat toast furnish the nutrients found in a cereal as well as a necessary protein.

While a child less than four years of age should be served cereal for his breakfast rather than the scrambled egg concoction a child of four years may eat the breakfast suggested without a cereal being specially prepared for him.

CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP

One-half pound mushrooms, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 4 cups white stock or water, 1 cup cream, 2 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper to taste. Chop mushrooms. Melt three tablespoons of the butter and cook mushrooms and onion over a low fire for five minutes. A few mushrooms should be saved after sauteing to garnish the soup. Add stock or water to mushrooms and simmer until soft. Rub through a sieve. Blend remaining butter and flour and stir into soup. Reheat to the boiling point, and add cream and yolks of eggs, slightly beaten. The eggs may be omitted. Add salt and pepper to taste and reserved mushrooms. Serve at once. Do not let the soup boil after adding the cream and yolks of eggs.

SPANISH CREAM

One and one-half tablespoons granulated gelatin, 2 cups milk, 2 eggs 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Stand in four tablespoons cold water for 10 minutes. Scald milk and slowly add to yolks of eggs beaten with salt and sugar. Cook over hot water until very hot. The sugar and yolks of eggs will cool the milk, stir in gelatin. Cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture thickens like boiled custard. Remove from heat and let cool. Add vanilla and the whites of eggs beaten stiff and dry. Turn into a mold and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

WALNUT CRACKERS

One-half cup butter, two thirds cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped English walnuts, flour. Cream butter and slowly beat in sugar. Beat in one-half cup flour. Add egg well beaten and beat mixture until smooth. Add enough more flour to make a very stiff dough. Add vanilla and salt and knead in the finely chopped nut meats. Roll very thin on a slightly floured molding board and cut two inch squares. Bake on an oiled and floured cookie sheet in a moderately slow oven for half an hour.

These little affairs are delicious to serve with afternoon tea or lemonade.

FASHION HINTS

ATTRACTIVE PARASOLS

Printed linens and chintzes make very attractive parasols that have very sturdy curved wood handles.

RAGE FOR COLOR

The rage in brilliant colors is responsible for the brilliant red blouses that are seen at smart restaurants for daytime wear.

GRAY SHADES SMART

Dark gray and all the light gray shades, particularly those with a pinkish cast are extremely smart now.

LARGE FELT HAT

There is an attempt being made to lurch the very large felt hat in lighter colors. It is very attractive with mannish suits and topcoats.

HAS TIGHT BASQUE

The popular dance frock of the moment is full skirted and has a tight basque. It is made of pastel colored chiffon.

EVENING WRAP, TOO

The white tulle wrap may very easily be pressed into service as an evening wrap.

DEEP OVAL BACK

The deep oval line in the back is featured in all the ultra smart evening frocks.

SHORTER COATS

Many of the smart ensembles have coats a few inches shorter than the dress so that the flared material of the frock may show beneath the coat.

Many of the smart ensembles have never heard of! But you will hear them next time, if you are very patient.

HIG FLOWER ON SHOULDER

The flower that is worn on the shoulder has grown in size until it practically covers all the available space there. This one is of brilliant red velvet, worn on a white chiffon dinner dress.

WOMEN ALONE HAVE POWER TO REDUCE COSTS

Washington—"The one reform women could bring about by their own efforts and without the help of men, is the one they pay the least attention to—lowering the cost of living."

So says Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, vice president of the National Consumers' League, and chairman of the living costs committee of the National League of Women Voters.

"Women are the buyers of the world," she maintains. "They should dictate to the dealers, rather than be exploited by them."

It is essentially a feminine inclination to be picturesque instead of practical she has found, and this works to the advantage of the shopkeeper and to the disadvantage of the husband or wage earner.

Their inherent dramatic instinct makes women quick to respond to the emotional appeal," she says. "They love to help the poor, relieve the sick, stroke the fevered brow and reform criminals, but they find little interest in practical issues like investigating the prices of bread and eggs."

Mrs. Costigan believes that club women could do much good for their communities if they studied less Browning and drama, and set out to investigate local market conditions.

"Prices can never be lowered except by organization of the consumers," she says. "Women must learn the conditions in their own communities, why certain commodities are high, who gets the excess profit and how to remedy this. Much waste could be avoided if women bought more intelligently and consistently and if dealers could depend on them to do so."

"Whenever women have offered or kanized resistance to excessive prices, they have brought them down."

"In New York City, the housewives of a certain community run a co-operative cafeteria, and another group operates apartments with reasonable rentals. In Minneapolis, a large creamery is run on the co-operative basis. Wherever you can bring about competition, you can bring down prices."

"If women could only visualize the human side of this sort of reform, they would be quick to enlist in it. After all when you bring down prices, you are helping eliminate poverty and the crimes that breed from it and the social consequences that arise from it—and what could be more humanitarian than that?"

"Prices can never be lowered except by organization of the consumers," she says. "Women must learn the conditions in their own communities, why certain commodities are high, who gets the excess profit and how to remedy this. Much waste could be avoided if women bought more intelligently and consistently and if dealers could depend on them to do so."

A Welcome Caller

"I ALWAYS like to see your delivery car driving up to our door," a lady told us the other day. "It's so fascinating to unwrap the packages and find my worn clothing like new again. And your drivers are always so courteous!"

A good many people feel the same way about our delivery service. The blue and orange cars are welcomed everywhere. Neighbors know that the families at whose homes they stop regularly are well-dressed, respected people. They realize that frequent dry cleaning and pressing is sensible economy.

Our delivery service covers the whole city. 10,000 customers in this part of the state enjoy this service regularly.

Whenever you phone 259 for dry cleaning, pressing or dyeing service, one of these cars will promptly drive up to your door.

A Child's Greatest Inheritance

Where else can children form the right habits of mind and preference for the better things in life except in the home? where else can they learn to love the kind of music that uplifts and stirs the noblest emotions that lies sleeping within us all?

If every home could have a grand piano to beautify its living room or parlor and to glorify the spirit of those who dwell therein, the effect would be far-reaching.

Nearly every home can have a grand piano under our convenient payment plan—our piano parlors contain the largest assortment of world's most famous makes.

Consider Your Morning Mail

There's one thing you know about it and some other things you want to find out.

You know, it's meant for your personal attention. And you want to know who it's from and what it's about.

Same thing's true about the ads under any heading in the A-B-C Classified Section that particularly interest you.

They have a special message for you-and your main interest is to find out how good an offer each one presents and who is making it.

A great many Appleton people wouldn't miss the Post-Crescent's Classified Columns when they have some wants to be filled any more than they would overlook opening their morning's mail.

RITCHIE HOME

Fire Department Answers Two Alarms Monday Morning—Damage Is Slight

Two fires occurring Monday morning were the cause of minor damage. The first alarm came in about 9:30 when sparks from the chimney ignited the residence of Dr. G. A. Ritchie, 245 E. College-ave. The department responded in time to prevent the flames from consuming more than a portion of the shingles.

The other call was at 10:30 to the farm of William Laux on E. Wisconsin ave just beyond the city limits. A shed which was being used as a smoke house for carp caught fire and the flames spread to an adjoining barn. One side of the building was damaged and a portion of the hay consumed. The smokehouse burned down.

Considerable water already had been applied before the department arrived and the fire almost was under control. More water was used by the firemen, however, to prevent its spread.

ELEVEN CONFIRMED

The confirmation services of St. Matthew church Sunday morning, at which 11 children were confirmed, opened with a processional and the singing of "Jesus Still Leads On." The Rev. Ph. A. C. Froehle delivered the sermon, the subject being, "Be Thou Faithful unto Death and I Will Give Thee the Crown of Life."

BUILDING PERMITS

Two out of five building permits issued by the city building inspector Saturday and Monday were for the building of residences, two for making additions to residences and the remaining one for the erection of a garage. The cost estimates covered by the five permits totaled $12,100.

Permits were issued as follows: Earl F. Miller, Inc. residence. 705 E. Randolph-st.

Leonard Schultze, residence. 706 W. Elsie-st.

William Tornow, garage. 1525 N. Appleton-st.

Robert Stammer, porch and addition to residence. 721 N. Meade-st.

August Teck, addition to residence. 934 E. Winnebago-st.

TREVER WRITES THESIS FOR MASTER'S DEGREE

Karl L. Trever, of Appleton, a graduate in the College of Letters and Sciences at the University of Wisconsin, and instructor in the history department, took his examination for the master of arts degree a week ago. He is now writing a thesis on "Navigation of the Mississippi from 1540 to 1850. Mr. Trever is a son of Prof. J. A. Trever of Lawrence college. Three years ago, as a student of Lawrence college, he won the western oratory contest.

GAS FREIGHTER SINKS NEAR MARINETTE SHORE

Marinette—With the gasoline freighter Sophia Fournier submerged in the shoal waters one half mile northeast of Seagull island, a coast guard cutter, equipped with a derrick could be seen attempting its salvage at noon Monday. The freighter has been at the mercy of a two day northeast gale since it was blown on a reef early Saturday when its engine became disabled. The crew of two men was safely removed late the same day by Orrin Angwell, Marinette alderman and his brother, who risked their lives on the high sea in a row boat. The vessel carried a load of hay, which was washed overboard.

The Weather

WEATHER FOR WISCONSIN
Fair tonight and Tuesday, followed by unsettled in west portion by Tuesday night. No so cold tonight. Probably frost in extreme east portion.

GENERAL WEATHER
An extensive high pressure area over the plain states Monday morning with generally fair weather. Unseasonably low temperatures are recorded with this "high" and frosts have been quite general in the north. Cloudiness prevented frosts in this immediate section but heavy frosts were recorded from Milwaukee and killing frosts from Duluth. Frost is probable here Monday night. The center of the crest of high pressure should pass here late Monday night or Tuesday and be followed by slowly moderating temperature.

SLAYER BREAKS DOWN AT SIGHT OF HIS MOTHER

Marquette, Mich. — "I'm the guy that did it. I killed my wife."

With those few words, spoken in a low, trembling voice, as he looked out of his cell door and caught a glimpse of his mother standing in jail corridor, Martin "Boysie" Havican, confessed to sheriff Thomas Ford that he was guilty of the most cold-blooded and gruesome slaying ever recorded in this city.

And then, Martin Havican, who told the sheriff only a few hours before that "He never cried, no matter what happened" began to sob. His mother was stunned by the unexpected admission from the son.

WAR IS BLACK
MARK NOW, NOT CAUSE OF GLORY

Nation Has Turned Corner and Builds for Peace, Peabody Tells Veterans

"America has turned the corner. The men who came back from the last war were not satisfied to merely 'do and die' as the poet says, but demanded to know the reason why they were sent into the great conflict. The fact that war with its present weapons is not the way up to higher and better things. It is the way down."

This was the statement of Dr. H. D. Peabody, pastor of the First Congregational church in his sermon Sunday morning at the annual memorial service for patriotic societies of the city. He praised what had been done in the past, even in the days of the Indians, but declared the future must bring a secretary of peace in the cabinet and the out-laws of war.

Veterans of the Civil war, the Spanish-American war and the World War were present with their auxiliaries and were seated in groups. Those were presented by Sunday school children to those present from the Grand Army of the Republic. One rose was taken Sunday afternoon by children of the church school to the grave of Charles Bentley, a Civil war veteran belonging to the Congregational parish, who died last week. Special music was furnished by the choir for the service.

Dr. Peabody said in his sermon that we can never have peace until all become men of good will. He described the evolution of methods used by governments to settle disputes and said that even our American Indians, barbaric though they were, made their contribution toward the manner of ending quarrels. We must not fail, he said, to honor those of the early days who did what they could to bring about peace.

"But how different the mood of the men who came back from the last war," said the pastor. "After every other conflict ended, the poets and song writers wrote many lines glorifying war and preparing men for greater glory in future wars. But that is not so of our last war. I have yet to see a song or poem written to glorify this recent struggle of ours."

"Tennyson, the poet laureate of England, wrote, 'Ours not to reason why, Ours but to do and die. Into the valley of death rode the six hundred.' But our boys who went into the great World War came back home out to think and reason to show that this must never happen again. They told us that diplomats blundered behind the scenes and ten million men had to kill and butcher each other, all to little purpose.

"We have turned the corner and have found that war with the present weapons is not the way up. It is the way downward. In our look into the future, there are things we propose to have and will have. We need a secretary of peace in the president's cabinet who will spend as much, yes, even one-tenth as much, as our secretary of war and navy, and perhaps our secretary of aircraft. So far we christians haven't made a very great investment or sacrifice for peace war."

"Secondly, we must outlaw war. We must brand it a crime against the law and sovereignty of nations. In so doing we can't stop war entirely, to be sure, but we will put it where it belongs. We will class it among the blackest, least excusable and most damnable crimes against humanity.

"We also must have a world court. Then we can put reason instead of brute force into rule. An association of nations like that proposed by President Harding, a league of nations or something similar in character, also must come in the future if we are to outlaw war and have peace. Call it a forum of nations or anything you like. We want the world court but it is not enough. We must have a forum where disputes and quarrels can be brought out for friendly discussion. An ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure when trouble between nations is brewing."

The pastor closed with a plea for greater allegiance to America and its ideals. The best thing we can teach our children, he declared, is that this is the land where hatred dies. United States must be made a nation most worthy of being loved.

Highway officials of Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky will meet in Chicago June 5 to designate the important interstate roads in those states which will be uniformly marked as United States highways. The selected routes will be designated by number and signed in all states with a standard marker. As a basis for the selection of the routes each state highway department will present at the meeting a map showing the routes within the state which in the opinion of the department should be selected.

Highway officials have agreed for some time that a remedy should be found for the present confused situation in respect to interstate roads. Overlapping of route numbers is to be common. The well known route 1,300 miles long overlaps of other routes for 10 per cent of its length. Two different routes are involved in the overlapping and in places two or three of them coincide for miles. Such a condition leads to confusion which the meeting proper eliminate.

CUPID SHOWS
MORE ENERGY
THAN LAST YEAR

Either Dan Cupid has had a raise in pay for 1925 and is working harder than last year or the men are better at proposing than the weaker sex, according to the records of John E. Hantschell, county clerk. The records show 12 more marriage licenses issued up to May 23 of this year than were issued up to the same date in 1924, leap year. However, the 1925 licenses issued still are four behind 1923 at the same date.

The inclination to become a "June bride" still lingers in the hearts of most of the girls of this vicinity, this week's records show. Of the 12 couples who obtained licenses last week, practically all will wait until the "fatal month" before the knot is tied.

WANT QUOTA LAW
AGAINST LATINIS

South Americans Will Be Offended If Immigration Restrictions Are Tightened

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington—Secretary of Labor Davis is going to urge Congress strongly, when it meets next, to put Canada and Latin America on a quota immigration basis. Canada, which is pretty independent, may not care. Latin America is very sensitive.

Except of Mexicans, the number of Latin American immigrants into the United States is negligible. Secretary Davis admits it. He agrees that South Americans would be practically excluded on the quota basis, because next to none of them are here now to base the basis on.

But more may come later, he argues. Not for quite awhile. South America, not a tenth as thickly settled as the United States, offers inducements to good immigrants to come her way.

South America's living standard is lower than North America's, insists Secretary Davis. So it is, because the bulk of South America's lower class won't work for a higher standard. They can get along with their standard in their climate. Here they couldn't—except at Miami Beach perhaps. They're going to stay where they can be pretty comfortable with as little effort as possible.

Ineligible aliens are being smuggled constantly across the Canadian and Mexican borders, points out Secretary Davis. That's illegal anyway. Putting Canada and Mexico on a quota basis won't make it any more so.

Yet conclusions: The quota basis for South America will have no effect except to offend South Americans, who are very doubtful already whether or not to like us. They were flattered at having an exception made in their favor under the present law.

The very satisfactory Gloria umbrellas are shown with satin borders in sixteen rib styles. There are carved wood handles and amber trimmings. Only $4.95.

Major G. R. Young, United States Engineering Corps, has informed the Association for the Relief of High Water at Oshkosh that the federal government has consented to hear riparian interests regarding the proposed survey of floor districts from Shawano dam to the head of Lake Koshong.

The proposed survey had been turned down previously by the Milwaukee office of the government engineers. Three hearings on the matter had been held last fall regarding to project which is known as the Shiocton cutoff, one here, one at Duck Creek and one at Shiocton. After these hearings the government engineer decided that the cost of the cutoff would be too great to warrant undertaking the work.

An attempt is being made by the Association for the Relief of High Water to have the next hearing held at Oshkosh, but if this plan is impossible of fulfillment, a committee will be sent to Washington.

Deaths and births must take place on the ground, according to a rule among the Sikhs of India.
